SIR W. MULOCK RESIGNS POST

Twenty-six Papers Heard at Session

clinic in Vancouver had symptoms of chest trouble, and 31 per cent had had contact with tuberculosis.

Out of 28,000 cases reviewed, 15.8 per cent were diagnosed as actually tuberculous. Of these 28.5 per cent were minimal, 25.6 per cent moderately advanced and 36.4 per cent far advanced. Infantile cases accounted for 4.4 per cent, juvenile for 4.5 per cent, and adolescent for 6.4 per cent.

For two years his department had conducted a large tuberculin testing survey of six-year-old school children in Vancouver. Of these 20 per cent had shown positive reactions, proving contact with tuberculosis; and 10 per cent of these were found to have tuberculous.

Dr. Hatfield also spoke of the higher incidence of tuberculosis among Orientals in the province, saying: "It would seem that both housing and diet as well as susceptibility are factors."

"A periodic health examination properly done can discover most diseases in their early stages," was Dr. Hatfield's conclusion.

Coronary thrombosis, a form of heart disease brought about by the blocking of the passages of the heart, was the subject of a paper by Dr. G. P. Strong, Vancouver.

"Coronary thrombosis is one of the most serious of human ailments," said Dr. Strong. "In about half of the patients the initial attack is immediately fatal."

Of the remainder, he said, many had subsequent attacks and were forced to live on a restricted basis. However, about 50 per cent of those who survived the initial attack made complete functional recoveries, and were in good health and able to resume normal occupations.

A warning against the use of purgatives and irrigations in some cases of colon disorder was given by Dr. E. P. Scarlett, Calgary, speaking on "Functional disorders of the colon."

An irritable or spastic large bowel was a common cause of abdominal symptoms and was frequently confused with changes in the gall bladder and the appendix, said Dr. Scarlett.

In treatment of troubles of this sort, the diet should be mild and should omit bulky foods. The bowel must be re-educated to its functions and regular bowel habit must be re-established.

NEW PROSTATE CURE
New hope for sufferers from prostate troubles was put forward by Dr. R. A. McComb of Toronto, speaking before the division of surgery on "Our experience with the hormone treatment of the adenomatous prostate."

Dr. McComb reported 50 per cent of cures with a very minor operation. The treatment, he said, was only in its infancy, and with more experimentation it was hoped to develop it to a state whereby the majority of people suffering with prostate trouble would be cured without major surgery.

The cure was a clinical application of the hormone theory in which enlargement of the prostate gland was treated by administration of internal secretions.

The suspense and fear experienced by children on the way from the hospital cot to the operating room was capable of causing emotional disturbances in later life, and could and should be eliminated, said Dr. Herbert E. Coe, Seattle, speaking before the section of pediatrics on "Basal anesthesia in children's surgery."

Dr. Coe recommended the use of a preliminary anesthetic which would induce a state of unconsciousness before the journey to the operating theatre.

This pre-operative anesthetic had come into use only recently in children's cases, according to Dr. Coe. Barbiturates, fast working sedatives, were applied by mouth or vein so that the child was not frightened, and was put in a state of unconsciousness from which it recovered quickly and restfully after the operation was finished.

This afternoon the convention's general sessions were scheduled to be resumed in the ballroom of the hotel.

Late this afternoon Dr. and Mrs. Hermann M. Robertson will entertain at "Clovelly," the home of Lady Barnard. In the evening there will be a cabaret supper and dance at the hotel.

The general session will continue tomorrow morning, with the formal business of the convention closing at noon.

AUSTRALIA SHIPS LESS TO JAPAN

Canadian Press from Havia
Tokyo, June 25.—An imperial decree invoking the Trade Safeguarding Act against Australian goods was published today in the official Tokyo Gazette and took immediate effect.

Decrees issued by government departments increase the restriction on the imports of wool, waste wool, old wool, wheat and wheat flour from Australia, and increase the ad valorem duties on beef, butter, condensed milk, hides and beef-tallow by 50 per cent.

These provisions will be in effect for one year.

At 92 Years of Age He Resigns as Chief Justice of Ontario; Years in Federal Cabinet Included in Career of Great Achievement

Canadian Press
Toronto, June 25.—Sir William Mulock, ninety-two-year-old Chief Justice of the Ontario Court of Appeal, today announced his resignation. It will become effective July 1. Sir William next Tuesday will sit on the bench for the last time.

Sir William has been chief justice for the province since 1923. He has served as Administrator of Ontario at various times during the absence of the Lieutenant-Governor. He is the oldest judge in Canada.

His mental alertness and vigor have drawn frequent comments from people in all walks of life in recent years. As Chancellor of the University of Toronto he presided at the graduation exercises a few weeks ago. For years he has been one of the most widely-known members of the legal profession in the Dominion.

He was called to the Ontario bar in 1888 and was created a King's Counsel in 1890. For four years he served as one of the examiners and lecturers on equity in the Law Society of Upper Canada.

His political career began in 1882, when he was elected to the House of Commons for North York, Ontario. He became Postmaster-General in the Laurier cabinet in 1896.

Declares Frontier Held in Common

British War Secretary Says France's Line as Britain's

Paris, June 25.—Rt. Hon. Alfred Duff Cooper, British Secretary of State for War, told the Association Franco-Britannique today that France's frontier "is our frontier."

"One of the realities which my compatriots sometimes lose sight of is that Franco-British friendship is not a question of sentiment or even choice," he said.

"It is urgent necessity, a question of life or death for our two countries."

"There still are today many Englishmen who are so blind in their prejudices they sincerely believe Britain entered the war from sheer kindness of heart, solely in order to aid her friends, the French."

"We entered the war because our vital interests were at stake and because our lives were endangered."

"It is this kind of ignorance which from time to time leads Englishmen to propose reorientation of other frontiers."

"They do not understand the nation is not free to choose at its pleasure its allies."

"You know Prime Minister Baldwin has said the frontier of Britain is on the Rhine. Your frontier is our frontier."

Payroll Guard Fails Holdup

Associated Press
Lawrence, Mass., June 25.—A gun battle between robbers attempting to seize a $10,000 payroll and a policeman and a bank employee sent two of the gunmen and the bank employee to a hospital here today.

A third robber escaped in an automobile, apparently uninjured.

The robbers attempted to hold up an armored bank car as it drew up to the Central Railroad Station.

Police Inspector Timothy O'Brien, guarding the payroll, stepped to the front of the car while Abbott Corkum, employee of the Bay State Merchants' National Bank, went to the back of the car to unlock it.

Two of the robbers stepped up and one knocked Corkum down. Then, police reported, the three men opened fire on the driver and O'Brien.

Corkum and O'Brien returned the fire, but Corkum fell wounded in the knee. Two robbers dropped as O'Brien emptied his gun at them.

CAN ENFORCE MUZZLE LAW

Vancouver Authorities Find Means of Using Dog Bylaw

Canadian Press
Vancouver, June 25.—Vancouver civil authorities believe they have at last found a means of enforcing a by-law passed in 1904 requiring muzzling or leashing of all police dogs.

In the past it has been difficult to enforce the by-law which specifies all police dogs, Alsatians, German shepherds, German police, Belgian shepherd, Belgian police, huskies or any dog partly of such breeds, as the prosecution has often been unable to prove the breed of dogs in question.

Investigation discloses that every person obtaining a civic licence for his dog must declare its breed, thus he will be liable to a fine or having his dog destroyed unless he keeps it muzzled or on a leash.

CUTTEN ESTATE FACES BIG TAX

Chicago, June 25.—Although the death of Arthur W. Cutten, famous market trader, wiped out charges of United States income tax evasion, his estate today faced a tax and penalty claim totaling almost $1,000,000.

A few hours after the sixty-six-year-old "little giant" of the grain pits died yesterday of heart disease, Assistant U.S. District Attorney Carl R. Perkins said the criminal charges would be stricken, but civil action would be started in an effort to collect $644,469 in payments and $322,235 in penalties for 1929, 1930 and 1931.

SOVIET MOVE IS OPPOSED

Japan Disagrees With Litvinoff's Plea For Full Freedom of Passage of All Russian Warships Through Dardanelles

Associated Press
Montreux, Switzerland, June 25.—Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff of Russia announced today to the international Dardanelles conference the Soviet Union wants freedom of passage through the Dardanelles for her warships to link Russia's naval bases in various seas.

M. Litvinoff declared Russia had no intention of aggression and she desired to establish close communication among her naval bases merely for visits of courtesy and communication, "and for no other purpose."

JAPAN'S REQUEST
The Japanese delegation demanded the elimination of the projected treaty clause by which Turkey would not allow the League if she believed she was menaced by war.

The Japanese said they wanted this clause eliminated in order to prevent Japan from becoming embroiled in any Dardanelles dispute through the relationship of the proposed convention with the League of Nations, from which Japan resigned.

The conference then suspended its plenary session until after the June 30 meeting of the League Assembly at Geneva.

TOKIO STATEMENT
Tokio, June 25 (Canadian Press from Asia).—Japan cannot agree to special privileges for Soviet war vessels in the Dardanelles, Admiralty officials said today when a request for instructions was received from the Japanese delegation at Montreux, Switzerland, where revision of the status of the Dardanelles is being considered.

Having withdrawn from the League of Nations, the navy spokesman added, Japan could not guarantee the security of the Dardanelles.

CHURCH THIEF IS SENTENCED

Hamilton, Ont., June 25.—Hugh Matthews, who told the court the "image of Christ" dictated his confession, pleaded guilty today to breaking and entering St. Lawrence's Roman Catholic Church, June 14, and was sentenced to three years in the Kingston penitentiary.

Matthews was carried into the courtroom still suffering from injuries he received when the front of the huge marble altar fell on him as he was about to open the tabernacle.

"It was not the hand of man that dictated by confession; it was the image of Christ," Matthews told Magistrate H. A. Furbridge.

Matthews said "poverty, despondency and my penniless condition dictated my actions."

"I had read in the papers where a few weeks earlier several hundred dollars had been taken from a church in Chatham and this actuated me in my crime," he said.

Cutten Funeral Rites at Guelph

Guelph, Ont., June 25.—Funeral service for the late Arthur W. Cutten, Chicago grain trader and native of Guelph, will be held in St. George's Church here tomorrow afternoon.

The body will be brought from Chicago tonight and a public service will be held in the church which benefited greatly from Mr. Cutten's generosity. Burial will be made in Woodlawn Cemetery, which also shared in his benefactions.

London, June 25 (Canadian Press Cable).—Lord Darling, famous jurist who died a month ago, left an estate of £22,000 (about $110,000). Most of the estate was left to his two daughters.

hence are unable to comment," an official spokesman said.

The latest roster of officers in the Japanese navy showed a Lieut.-Commander Toshio Miyazaki was at present an instructor in the naval college at Tokyo.

Miyazaki, the Tokio officer, was in America a few years ago as an attaché of the Japanese embassy, authorities said.

"But whether this Miyazaki and the person named in the indictment are identical is problematical," they added, "since Toshio Miyazaki is a common Japanese name."

Miyazaki and Thompson, the indictment returned at Los Angeles charges, were in league from the summer of 1934 till the following spring.

Disguised as a navy officer, the instrument sets forth, Thompson boarded battleships at San Pedro and San Diego, Cal., mingled with officers and obtained information which he turned over to Miyazaki at a fixed spring.

Thompson, it is charged by the grand jury, sold to the Japanese "documents, code books, signal books, photographs, blueprints, plans, maps, models and information relating to the national defence."

FOR USE AGAINST U.S.
These, the indictment says, were "to be used to the injury of the United States and to the advantage of a foreign nation, to wit, Japan."

The jury charges that the defendants met several times, on which occasions Thompson was paid for his information, "the payments being too numerous to mention."

In a letter sent during November, 1934, Miyazaki told Thompson to expect a monthly salary "not later than the first of each month," says the indictment.

WORK STARTS ON BITUMEN PLANT

Canadian Press
Edmonton, June 25.—First unit of a $100,000 plant for refining gasoline and other products from McMurray Bitumen will be in production by mid-August, R. C. Fitzsimmons, president of the International Bitumen Company, announced today.

The company is the first commercial producer of McMurray bitumen.

Operation of the refinery will make history in development of the immense beds of bituminous sands in the McMurray region, sands said to hold oil reserves ample for the entire British Empire.

Mexican Fascists Planning March

Mexico City, June 25.—Former Gen. Nicholas Rodriguez, head of the Fascist

Gold Shirts, yesterday said 25,000 of his followers would march on Mexico City soon.

"Come on horses, goats if necessary," he said in his call to action. The Gold Shirts will protest against present governmental trends.

DROUGHT IN BIG U.S. AREAS

Anxiety Grows as Sun Scorches Midwest States; Cattle Shipped Out of South Dakota

Associated Press
Chicago, June 25.—Intense heat hastened the destruction of crops in drought-stricken sections of the western United States today.

Concern grew as the Chicago weather bureau described the current month as the second driest June on record. No relief was sighted. Meteorologists cited the "likelihood of a few scattered thundershowers in the northern third of the north central states," but predicted generally fair weather accompanied by "abnormally high" temperatures.

DAKOTA TEMPERATURES
In North Dakota—where officials reckoned half the state's 87,000 farm families were in need of assistance—readings of 107 degrees at Bismarck, 105 at Jamestown, and 101 at Fargo were recorded yesterday. Aberdeen, S.D., reported 106 and Miles City, Mont., 108.

Cattle were being shipped out by trainload on some ravaged areas of South Dakota. Short harvests of oats and barley were in prospect for parts of Iowa and North Dakota.

GRASSHOPPER PLAGUE
Millions of grasshoppers migrated through eastern Nebraska and western Iowa. Prof. M. H. Sweeney of the University of Nebraska described the horde as the heaviest he had seen in many years.

Free State to Have No Governor

Valera Announces Irish Abolishing Post; Official to Be Elected

Associated Press
Dublin, June 25.—President Eamon de Valera announced in the Dail yesterday the office of Governor-General would be abolished in the projected new constitution. Instead, he said, an elected representative of the people would be the ceremonial head of the state.

Donal Buckley, a former member of the Dail, who had played a prominent part in the 1916 Easter rebellion, has been Governor-General since 1932.

One of Mr. Buckley's recent duties was the signing of the bill abolishing the Senate on May 29 of this year which crowned with success a four-year fight by De Valera and paved the way for the "new constitution" he is planning.

INSECT CONTROL PLANT OPENED

Canadian Press
Belleville, Ont., June 25.—Dr. G. H. S. Barton, deputy minister of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, opened the new $85,000 parasite laboratory here yesterday. The new building is considered one of the finest in the world for the propagation of insects to control insect pests.

Dr. Arthur Gibson, chief Canadian entomologist, said it was not generally realized the loss caused by insects was roughly estimated at $100,000,000 a year.

"Parasites are to be propagated and a distribution made of beneficial species and study, investigation and experiments will be carried out," he said.

Dr. Barton said the occasion might be regarded as a milestone of progressive development of the protective services.

PREPARE TO MOVE CATTLE

Associated Press

Helena, Mont., June 25.—Montana railroads cleared the tracks today for a speedy emergency mass movement of drought-stricken cattle from burning ranges of the east to green pastures in the west.

The rail lines obtained from the state railroad commission permission to establish, on one day's notice, reduced rates on cattle movements from eastern to western Montana.

The carriers expected to receive similar authority from the Interstate Commerce Commission this week.

Eastern Montana continued to smolder and wither under a searing sun. Among the points which recorded official temperatures of more than 100 degrees yesterday were Glasgow and Glendive—105 each.

SOUTH AFRICA AIDS LEAGUE

Can Be No Question of Quarrel With Great Britain, Says Minister of Justice Jan C. Smuts

Kroonstad, South Africa, June 25.—General Jan C. Smuts, Minister of Justice of the Union of South Africa, said in a speech here today it would be "sheerest lunacy" for South Africa to quarrel with Great Britain.

He said the Union would stand by the League of Nations until the very end, agreeing with the views on the League expressed by Prime Minister J. B. M. Hertzog.

(South Africa has expressed her opposition to dropping sanctions against Italy for the Ethiopian conflict.)

"It would be sheerest lunacy to

LAUNCHING CAMPAIGN

While the Democratic national convention is in progress at Philadelphia, Representative William Lemke, above, is preparing to plunge into his campaign as Union candidate for the presidency of the United States. The North Dakota congressman last week announced formation of the new party and its bid in the November election.

Striking at Democrats and Republicans alike, Mr. Lemke says he has "accepted the challenge of the reactionary elements of both."

T. C. O'Brien of Boston is expected to be Mr. Lemke's running mate as candidate for vice-president.

No Attack Plans In Plane Wreck

Associated Press

London, June 25.—Viscount Cranborne, Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, told an inquiring member of Commons yesterday that "no plans, either for an Italian attack on Egypt or of any other description," were found in the burned wreckage of an Italian plane near Cairo last August.

The questioner was Geoffrey Mander, opposition Liberal. He then asked Lord Cranborne: "Is he able to say that no document of this kind was found in any Italian airplane during the summer months of last year?"

The Under Secretary replied: "I should like notice of that question, because it is not the same question." Mr. Mander agreed to give formal notice of the question. The way was thus left open for further discussion.

"I have information from a number of sources, which I regard as reliable, said Mr. Mander, that plans for an Italian attack on Egypt did fall into the possession of the government last summer and immediate action was taken.

"This is widely known in Europe and America," he added, "and maybe the explanation for the government's sudden enthusiasm last summer for the League."

Seven Italians, including Luigi Razza, Minister of Public Works, were killed in an Egyptian desert crash of last August 7. The wreckage was found by Royal Air Force

WRINKLES and HAIR ON LIPS
Now "Faded Away"

BLACKHEADS AND OILY SKIN CURBED
Thousands of women who formerly were miserable over a skin beset with wrinkles, prominent hair on face, blackheads or oily skin, now rave about a new beautifier, DIOXOGEN CREAM.

This remarkable preparation contains live oxygen that has an unusual four-fold effect: First, it penetrates into the depths of the pores, loosens fatty blackheads and cures their further formation.

Second, the oxygen tends to normalize greasy, oily skin, without drying.

Third, it helps to fade out wrinkles so that, in many cases, no one ever sees them. A little face powder then makes the skin look lovely and smooth.

Fourth, hair on lips and face is lightened naturally, with oxygen.

DIOXOGEN CREAM has been tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau. It is the only beautifier in the world containing live OXYGEN. Circular with every jar gives 24-hour daily oxygen treatment.

Strong Fleet To Guarantee Peace

Sir Samuel Hoare Says That As Britain Builds Up Navy, League of Nations Depends on It

Canadian Press
London, June 25.—Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty, was on record today with an assertion world peace in the future depends on a strong British navy.

Addressing the Royal Empire Society last night, Sir Samuel declared a British fleet in the Mediterranean was essential to the principle of collective security. He decried talk of the "inevitability of war."

"There are two lessons which emerged from our experience of the last six months," Sir Samuel said. "The first was that collective security, in actual practice, meant the British fleet in the Mediterranean. In spite of criticism, people have ignored the fact that the fleet has completely fulfilled its duty in preventing an extension of the conflict."

"The second lesson is that although in theory the combined strength of fifty nations might mean a formidable military force in practice, the value of the force depends entirely upon the willingness of the various countries."

"I make no recriminations against any country, I merely state the fact that the only member of the League that was ready even to make effective preparations was Great Britain."

"These lessons show the League depends on a strong British navy as one of the great factors of peace."

TO STOP WAR DRIFT
"We are re-arming to stop the drift to war," he said. "If the British army, navy and air force are adequately strengthened in time there will be no world war. British strength, particularly British naval strength, is one of the most potent factors of the peace of the world."

"If a well-balanced fleet, capable of defeating an enemy, keeping the seas open, equipped to go anywhere and concentrated upon its three essential duties—cover, cruising and convoy—can be built in time, there will be no world war."

If he were asked, Sir Samuel continued, whether the advent of air power had changed the functions of the navy and made it impossible to build a fleet that could carry out its traditional duties, his answer was "No!"

"PROSPERITY BOND" PLAN IS OPPOSED
Calgary, June 25.—Definite opposition to the Alberta Government's proposed "Prosperity Bond" plan was registered by members of the Calgary Board of Trade yesterday.

At a meeting a resolution was adopted which declared the government's scrip proposal would not be feasible or "in the best interest of the welfare of the people."

Says Confidence Of Public Needed

Murray Bay, Que., June 25.—E. H. Adams of Vancouver, vice-president of the Canadian Electrical Association, yesterday evening told the annual convention of that body that public relations at the moment were one of the most important problems of power company operation.

"You must take the people into your confidence," he said.

Purity Means A Great Deal

Nothing we can say about what purity means in milk can have anywhere the weight that these few words have, written in a letter by Mrs. W.:

"The fact that Pacific was the only milk that I agreed with my boy when he was a baby speaks well for its purity."

The only milk because of its purity. We have many letters that pay similar tribute.

Exit Rugged Individualism

OLD-TIME "RUGGED INDIVIDUALISM" is in a bad way in United States, judging from the platform the Republicans produced at Cleveland two weeks ago and the outline of the Democratic platform which is now being shaped in Philadelphia to continue the policies pursued by the Roosevelt administration during its last four years in power.

The old conception of an America in which government kept its hands completely off the machinery, and left men to work out their own salvation, does not seem to commend itself to the men who have to go out and get the votes these days. It really has been a good many years since the country gave anything more than lip service to this conception. It has had the Interstate Commerce Act for quite a while, for instance; the protective tariff for even longer.

There are violent differences between the parties and among leaders within the parties as to how far the government should interfere and protect. But practically no one in either party speaks for a return to the old conception of a government which had neither the right nor the power to interfere in the economic lives of its citizens.

In a way, both parties are resounding the note of the years just before the Great War when Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt both preached that democracy had economic as well as political implications. The trend they set was interrupted by the war and it was almost obliterated during the lush years of the '20's. But during the hard years since 1929 there has been a turning back to the rising political philosophy of two decades ago, to Wilson and the first Roosevelt and what they said about political freedom being less than half a loaf, unless it is accompanied by a decent measure of economic freedom. Both parties have come to recognize that if a man's right to earn a living is at the mercy of remote forces he can neither control nor properly identify, he is up against what the Republican platform has already said "will utterly destroy constitutional government and the liberty of the citizen."

Such is the mood of the country as interpreted in the pronouncements of the two old parties. It is also reflected in the fact that President Roosevelt of the Democrats is an old Woodrow Wilson man, and Landon, the Republican nominee, is an old Theodore Roosevelt Bull Moose. It looks like good-bye to the once sacrosanct rugged individualism.

Getting Down to Cases

THERE IS A NATURAL ANTAGONISM in some quarters on both sides of the Atlantic to what may be called a sort of "making up" with Germany. Thousands of Canadians were the victims of German bullets. Thousands of Germans were the victims of Canadian bullets. This theme could be pursued indefinitely; but it would end in a cul de sac as far as international controversy is concerned. Germany is a nation of more than 67,000,000 people, efficient—a youth trained to be capable in manhood and womanhood, an adult population determined to emerge from what, after all, has been described as a spurious inferiority complex imposed upon Germany in the Hall of Mirrors at Versailles in 1919.

The Times, London, commenting on the House of Commons debate on sanctions against Italy, persists in its argument that something ought to be done by Great Britain to bring about a settlement and understanding between France and Germany. At this distance, of course, we do not see why Great Britain always should be nominated to take the lead in matters such as these.

The great London daily, however, goes to the heart of things when it says—and we merely quote from its editorial of yesterday in part—that "the nation is in no mood for negatives. Franco-German disunion broke down the sanctions policy. No adequately-working League is possible until a Franco-German settlement is achieved." The great bulk of British opinion demands that the British Government, which confessedly wills this end, shall also will the means to it, allowing no consideration of diplomatic propriety to stand in the way of the negotiation which Chancellor Hitler's offer originally invited.

What stands out in relief against this bald dispatch from London is that if there are to be a lot of political gymnastics—swallowing hard-boiled traditions—and if they are calculated to bring about a better understanding between nation and nation, what does it matter? The world wants peace. If its governments will not pursue policies which will prevent friction, their people will find a way to make their will felt.

Man's Great Problem

THE FATHER OF ALL CRIME AND all sin is selfishness. Without selfishness, no man can wrong his fellows; with selfishness, any man is a potential criminal. Whatever else he may be, the criminal is a primitive savage in this one particular. Like the natural, untaught child, he knows no law except his own desires.

The child is a natural egoist. He thinks only in terms of his own wants. He feels no interest in the welfare of others and shows them no consideration. He must learn not to be selfish as he learns not to steal or lie or cheat. It is a hard lesson, for it requires surrendering his own good for the good of others. He must learn it early, or he never will learn it at all.

If he never learns—if he reaches maturity without regard for the rights of others and without concern for the welfare of anybody except himself—fear alone keeps him from being an outlaw. He is an outlaw in spirit, for the law requires him to regard the rights of others and he does it unwillingly and rebelliously. When he injures others to benefit himself, it is not because he surrendered to the temptation to do wrong. There was no contest between good and evil desires. He did it because it seemed the right and sensible thing to do. A person must look out for himself. If others are hurt, that is their hard luck. Anyone who denies a profit for the sake of others is foolish. That is the way his mind works.

If all minds were like that, of course there would be no security for anybody except the cunning and strong. As it is, the measure of security we enjoy is exactly proportioned to the selfishness of our neighbors. No police force could make us safe if nobody felt any obligation to consider the rights of others. The classic examples of selfishness in action are racketeering and war. And selfishness is merely being consistent when it robs a weakling or steals an Ethiopia or a Manchuria.

The great problem of mankind is not economic or political, but ethical. When people learn to be decently unselfish, most of the great problems disappear.

Ripe Timber

SCIENCE HAS DEVELOPED A method of determining whether a stand of timber is "ripe" for cutting. It was explained the other day before the meeting in Seattle of the Ecological Society of America.

The method is simple. The forester walks through the forest, carrying in his hand a pocket-size electric photometer, of the type used by photographers to gauge the light by which they have to work. This shows the amount of light passing through the forest canopy, in terms of figures on a dial. From time to time he notes down the readings, and at the end of his trip he averages them up. The density of the forest canopy thus measured is an expression of the maturity and harvest-readiness of the forest.

No photometer reading, however, will be convincing to the nature lovers who fight for the preservation of the Cameron Lake and other inspiring stands of timber on the scenic highways of this island.

The Dictator

A DISPATCH FROM ROME ON Monday told us that Premier Mussolini could "take care" of those nations which are "crazy with the heat."

Il Duce has taken "civilization" into the wilds of Ethiopia. Poison gas, tanks, a highly-mechanized army, enabling his expedition to obtain a victory. The question to be asked is: What is he going to do with the victory?

Premier Mussolini may think his March on Rome more than a decade ago still is the bulwark upon which his dictatorship is destined securely to rest. But one of these days there may be a rude awakening.

While there are several countries under the domination of a one-man-government, the day will come when the people—the vast majority of the human race—will want an accounting. That accounting will be painful for the dictators.

Notes

Temperament is becoming a thing of the past in Hollywood, a cinema camera man informs us. It is at last dawning on actors and actresses that it gains them nothing but disfavor.

Al Capone's next hope will be the expiration of his minimum term with "good time" allowance. His full term would be meagre allowance for the "good time" he had prior to 1932.

Under Saanich's "blue law" proposals, merrymakers under eighteen may have to bring written permission to attend public dances. Now some of those perennial seventeen-year-olds will grow up.

When you come to think of war you take your minds back to that Christmas Day many years ago when the opposing armies in France talked a truce and fraternized. The cockney talked to his German opponent and asked: "And 'ows the missus?" Perhaps the German said, in perfect English, "foine." Or maybe he clicked his heels together and said: "Ausgezeichnet!"

Some Conservative newspapers in Canada seem to develop an extraordinary idea of public responsibility as soon as their party is ejected from office—as was the Bennett government last October. Here, for example, is what The St. Catharines Standard had to say the other day in connection with Hon. W. D. Euler's trip to Germany and Russia: "It is a plain fishing expedition, and the result will be largely educational and recreational to the minister." But, remembering that the fish to be caught are enlarged markets for the Canadian producer, Canada naturally will wish the minister a handsome "haul."

Loose Ends

Parliament goes home and the public's only comment is, "So what?"—a great cause is finally lost—an expert is corrupted—and the Culottes come back in humiliation.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

UNAPPRECIATED

THE CANADIAN PARLIAMENT ground painfully to a close this week after sitting since the first part of the year. What misery it endured in the heat of Ottawa, listening to speeches day after day, no one can imagine who has not seen this ordeal by fire, the reward of statecraft in these times.

The heat waves pour down the valley of the Ottawa, and the sound waves echo and re-echo in the great stone vault of Parliament, until a poor statesman is practically drowned in both. But what appreciation does he get from the electors who send them there? How often have you paused in your busy life to thank God that men will still go to Parliament and endure this long suffering for an indemnity quite insufficient to keep them properly, when their own business has been ruined by public service?

How often, as you sat on your lawn in the cool evening or picked roses in your garden, or weeded your rosebushes, have you stopped to think what was happening to your Parliament, suffocating in the heat of Ottawa, chained in a stone vault? Not often, I dare say. And how many Canadians, now that Parliament has gone home, tired and limp, could tell you what it has been doing all these months, what legislation it has passed, how much money it budgeted for? Not more than one—Canadian in a hundred thousand, who leaves few in this city, could give you the remotest idea what Parliament has been doing.

There is appreciation for you, and an intelligent democracy functioning to perfection. But this will not keep people from criticizing Parliament and saying to themselves that those lads earn their $5,000 a year far too easily. It is no wonder that it is next to impossible to get the best men to go near Ottawa. It is a startling evidence of patriotism that we can get anyone to run for Parliament at all.

LOST CAUSE

THE OLD CONTROVERSY over the little white bear in Beacon Hill Park has flared up anew with a vehement flame. Thousands of people have grown articulate about it. Multitudes are demanding action. At least six people have written to the editor about it in the last month. Invariably they mention me as the person who started this great crusade. It would be gratifying indeed to go down in history as the man who liberated the little white bear; it is not quite so gratifying to go down as the man who merely failed to liberate her.

Of all the insane suggestions for the relief of poor Ursus Kermodei, the most outstanding is that advanced by one customer who wants her put out on the Malahat and allow her to run wild. It should be remembered in the first place that Ursus is a respectable spinner, a maiden lady who is not accustomed to the rough company of ordinary black bears such as roam our woods. Not only would she starve to death because she hasn't learned to hunt, but she would certainly acquire uncouth and primitive manners from the black bears, which would be worse.

Probably at the first sight of Mayor Leeming or one of our aldermen driving over the Malahat in a car, poor Ursus would follow him home in order to get a square meal at the park. She would be as helpless in the woods as the City Council, and you know what it's like.

And you can imagine what the tourists would think of us if, in addition to a South Seas sergeant, they saw a white Polar bear on the Arctic; and, after all, nowadays our whole civilization, our appearance and habits of life must be modified to suit the tourists, since they are expected to pay for it.

So, on the whole, I have decided to halt the whole campaign to liberate Ursus. The City Council has so corrupted her that she is only fit to live in a cage now, even though it is unfair that she should be locked up when so many animals of prey far more dangerous than she, are at liberty and roam the streets every day. In plain words, our campaign of liberation is a failure. We have been beaten by the City Council. It is a grave humiliation.

ARTIST

FEATURE STORY WRITERS are always listing the queer occupations created by our many-sided modern life; like men who make traps for catching poisonous snakes escaped from circuses, fellows who sell their blood for the aristocrats, and experts who taste onions for growers of onion seeds. Of all these highly specialized professions I think that my nameless friend of the movies has the best. As I say, I don't know his name, but hardly a month goes by without his appearance in a movie, always drunk.

That is how he makes his living, by appearing in movies, always drunk. I can testify that he has never drawn a sober breath on the screen. In our many-sided modern life we need expert drunks, like expert onion tasters, and he is the most expert drunk in the business. But it must be funny for his children when their playmates ask them what daddy does and they reply that he gets drunk in the movies.

Now I perceive that they are trying to sober him up. For several feet of film lately he won't drink. He was merely in the act of getting drunk. Soon he may be sober, altogether. It is a great mistake when a man has mastered a skilled profession to dissipate his talents in this careless fashion. Something should be done to preserve his art.

CULOTTES

THE LATEST summer dresses for women, one notes by the advertisements, are called culottes. How few of the girls who romp about the beaches this summer in these baggy new trousers will realize that they are wearing historic emblems, garments with a grim history! Culottes were the badge of the French Revolution, and the mobs of Paris sometimes carried a pair of them, tied to a pike, like a flag; the idea being that the poor were without trousers, and culottes, and it was these lads, the same culottes, who did the job when the guillotine started working.

Now we find this noble emblem reduced to a beach pyjama. And on women! It is quite a come-down for the culottes. But it is part of a new revolution which we are now in. Sometimes as you look at our beaches you must wonder whether our revolution isn't more disagreeable than the French one.

U.S. LAWYERS' EARNINGS

From the New York Sun

A committee of the New York County Lawyers' Association presents statistics on the earnings of attorneys in Manhattan which at first glance seem astounding. From them it appears that half of the lawyers in this county earn less than $3,000 each a year in the practice of their profession; that thirty-two out of every 100 earn $10,000 or more each a year; that only about fourteen per cent earn an average of $14,000 or more.

HEALTH INSURANCE ERRORS

To the Editor:—Mr. Walter Inward is completely at sea in his assumptions concerning certain phases of the Health Insurance Act.

He suggests that members of fraternal societies will be exempt under the act, and that such members will therefore be given preference by employers who would, if Mr. Inward's interpretation of the act were correct, be relieved of the 1 per cent impost on payrolls.

The act does not exempt members of fraternal societies, who will contribute equally with others within the scale of wage and occupation limits. Furthermore, your correspondent is inaccurate in suggesting that employers will contribute 2 per cent toward the fund. The contribution will be but 1 per cent.

"SIGN-POST"

To the Editor:—On behalf of the Erie Employees Federation I wish to convey our sincere appreciation to those who took part in the events on Tuesday. We were greatly honored with the presence of Lieutenant-Governor Hamber. We also feel that we should express great appreciation from all members of our association with reference to the very hard day we placed before His Worship Mayor Leeming. From 9:30 a.m. until midnight he was entirely at our disposal. Of course, knowing His Worship to be an excellent sportsman, we are sure that his head and soul was in every event and in pressing the prizes he seemed to be overjoyed to pat the winners on the back.

We also wish to thank Mr. Cowlishaw of the Crystal Garden for the manner in which he dealt with us throughout the swimming gala. His affability was outstanding in every way, anything we desired from him he was only too pleased to give us. We feel that Mr. Cowlishaw as manager of the Crystal Garden is worthy of our city. Further thanks are due to Mr. Hodges of the Empire Hotel for the assistance he gave us with reference to the loan of certain articles which we very much required for the day's meet.

Archie McKinnon and his boys, the representatives from the Canadian Navy, Dan Moses and the wonderful boys that he produces with the oars and shells, the Scottish Societies and dancers, all called for one word, "success."

Our officials were excellent, and although we did not receive the response that we should have done, possibly those who witnessed the events will advertise it so that the events in future years will receive greater attention and the attendance that it should. I may have left out some from my letter, but I feel that they will know that all members of our federation deeply appreciate any service that they gave with reference to our one big sports day.

There is now being collected certain sums for the building of a fund to send some of our local athletes back to the Olympic Trials. Help these boys, they need your help. Kidnapping was as real a danger to them as the sea. Get behind them. We are indeed grateful for all the public has done for us.

A. H. BISHOP,

President Erie Employees Federation of Greater Victoria.

STOLEN BY GYPSIES

From The London Observer
The Dowager Lady Monson, who died a few days ago at the age of ninety-five, was as a child stolen by a member of a circus troupe in the Burlington Arcade, and it was only by an accident that she was recovered. Kidnapping was as real a danger in England in those days as it is in America today. Adam Smith was as a child carried away by gypsies, and remained for some hours in their possession. A historical case was that of an ancestor of Sir Edward Malet, who was in the early century our ambassador at Berlin. The child was carried to America and became a sweep's boy in New Orleans. In clearing out a chimney he found a number of coins and recognized them as English. The owner of the house made inquiries, which resulted in the boy being identified and sent home in memory of the event Sir Edward gave a yearly banquet to the sweeps' boys of Berlin, and previously in the other capitals to which he was accredited.

STRAWBERRY NOSTALGIA

From The Toronto Globe
What is there to equal a dish of strawberries in taking the average Canadian back to the days when he went berry picking on the "back fifty," in the neighborhood of the swamp? Barefoot, and with one sweater considered ample, he trudged off with his little tin pail, and it would be a disconsolate lad who returned home without a brimming pailful. Of course, there was always the excuse that the berries "sagged" on the way home, but mother only said that at that. A boy does get hung on the way back from the berry patch; and there would be no self-sacrifice in his declaration at supper time that he didn't care for any of the berries he had picked. From now till now is July, the time when the berries will bob up in the minds of many grown-ups—men and women—as they cream and sugar a generous helping of Canadian strawberries. And the aroma—ah, that also takes one back through the years, and to a profusion of wild strawberries ripening in the July sunshine.

GETTING AFTER EDITORS

From The Montreal Gazette
German editors must now prove their Aryan ancestry and that of their wives back to 1800. Perhaps it is the fact that there is some doubt as to the origin of the Aryan race that induced the makers of the new press regulations not to call for proof of editorial ancestry back to Adam, the husband of Eve, and the first man. Or maybe it was the fear that Adam was not an Aryan. But July 1, 1900, the regulation rather puts the German editors "on the spot." Some of them may not be able to furnish proof farther back than their grandfathers and grandmothers.

RECIPE FOR LONG LIFE

From The Stafford Beacon-Herald
Perhaps the only reliable recipe for long life is a discriminate choice of parentage and ancestry. We once heard Sir Oliver Lodge say that a human being at birth is endowed with a definite amount of vitality, which, barring accidents, will maintain life for a certain period of years, and no more. One thing is certain, and that is that human beings were never intended to live on indefinitely, otherwise the planet would become overcrowded and the rising generation would never get a chance. "Here we have no abiding city."

ANOTHER PENNIP FEEB

From The Winnipeg Free Press
Seems to be generally agreed at Ottawa that judges should retire at seventy-five. The objection that there would be heavy expense in pensioning all those over that age at full salary suggests that there is a large number. And serious statements have been made as to the present fitness of some now on the bench.

SLEEP, PATIENT, SLEEP

From The New Yorker
A few soporifics called from the remarks of physicians, surgeons, dentists, etc.

"There's a lot of it around just now."

"And first of all, don't worry, and get plenty of sleep."

"Well, well, and how is our patient this morning?"

"Pardon me, but who did your dentistry previously?"

"You have the constitution of a man (or woman), fifteen years younger."

"If they were all like you, I guess we doctors would starve to death."

"Why, in a few weeks you'll probably be better than ever."

"Now, I won't hurt you."

"This may hurt you a little."

"Why don't you just go away for a few weeks?"

LEECHES STILL USED

From The Brockville Recorder and Times
While today we do not refer to the family physician as a "leech," and have associated the mental image of that remedy with the dead past, it is a fact that leeches are still employed in blood-letting. Canada got over 6,000 of them last year. Some came by parcel post, an Ottawa druggist informs the bureau. The same druggist states that a number of years ago when he used a leech to take the blood out of a beautiful black eye which a customer laid one Saturday night had acquired, he had great difficulty in stopping the bleeding, apparently that being one of the troubles about the use of leeches.

Canadians Receive First Medical V.C.

Sir F. Banting and Doctors C. H. Best and J. B. Collip Honored at C.M.A. General Meeting; Dr. H. M. Robertson Installed As President

The Victoria Cross of Canadian Medicine—the Frederic Newton Gibson Starr award—was last night presented for the first time to Sir Frederic Grant Banting, discoverer of the insulin treatment for diabetes, and his co-workers, Doctors Charles Herbert Best and James Bertram Collip.

The presentation was made by Mrs. F. N. G. Starr, widow of the great Canadian medical man in whose memory the gold medals are named, during the course of the annual general meeting of the Canadian Medical Association in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel.

The meeting was attended by His Honor Eric Hamber, Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia; Rev. H. E. Sexton, Bishop Coadjutor of Columbia, and leading medical men of Canada and the United States, and was also the occasion of the installation of Dr. Herman M. Robertson of Victoria as president of the Canadian Medical Association.

Mrs. F. N. G. Starr, standing before the rows of doctors and scientists who wore caps and gowns of many universities, and turning to a crowded audience, Mrs. Starr spoke briefly and sincerely of her husband and his greatest award of honor conferred on the memory of her husband by this greatest award of Canadian medicine.

The bestowal of the award by the Canadian Medical Association, she said, revived many delicate tendrils of memory.

She recalled how Dr. Starr only a few years ago refused the offer of a position of great promise in Britain because he believed his work lay in Canada.

Mrs. Starr spoke of his long attachment with the Canadian Medical Association, telling how he was born in 1867, the year of the foundation of the association, and how in his youth he resuscitated and in his maturity upheld the organization.

It was fitting, she said, that the first award should be made in Victoria, because it was Dr. H. M. Murphy who suggested here this form of memorial to a personal friend.

Also the award was fitting because the men who were receiving "it were men whom her husband had personally admired.

Dr. J. C. MEAKINS
Dr. Jonathan C. Meakins, Montreal, retiring president of the association, spoke of Dr. Starr as a leader who was respected and followed, and a man who gave his best energy to further the welfare of his beloved profession.

Dr. Meakins reviewed the career of Dr. Starr, pointing out how he became a member of the Canadian Medical Association as early in his career as possible, how in 1893 he was made secretary, how in 1906, when the British Medical Association met in Toronto, he was considered worthy of the very responsible position of local secretary, and how, after his term as president in 1927, when a generation of service could have earned him rest, he devoted his time to the furtherance of the association and the foundation of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada.

Dr. Starr, said Dr. Meakins, had had no tolerance for cant or affectation of any kind, and he had always been a friend of youth. It was therefore especially fitting that the first award of the medal dedicated to his memory should be made to three of his own students.

PRESIDENT INSTALLED
Following the presentation of the medals, Dr. George S. Young, Toronto, chairman of the council of the association, introduced the new president, to whom Dr. Meakins handed over the cross and gavel of office.

Dr. Robertson, in a brief presidential address, spoke of the responsibilities devolving upon himself in receiving the highest gift in the power of the association.

Recalling the long list of distinguished men who had held the presidency in previous years, he said he faced his new duties with diffidence. Dr. Robertson spoke of medicine as "a never-ceasing fight for the defence of the health of the public, for the furtherance of knowledge and for the maintenance of the highest type of ethical medical practice."

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR

Lieutenant-Governor Hamber, speaking at the opening of the meeting, referred to the annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association as an event of great importance not only because it offered the opportunity for the interchange of medical information, but also because it brought together in one place the keenest minds and intellects of the profession.

He spoke of the great benefit which accrued from the discussion of various subjects and the reading of papers by authorities.

"The medical service for which the doctors get little enough thanks and less remuneration, especially in times of depression, is a just cause for pride on the part of the profession but is not sufficiently appreciated by the general public," he said.

FROM BRITISH BODY

Dr. W. Harvey Smith, vice-president of the British Medical Association, and former president of both the British and Canadian associations, brought a message of fraternal greeting and goodwill to the assembled medical men of the Dominion from their British colleagues.

He spoke of the British association as "a proud mother" in its relations with the C.M.A., and added that the medical profession in the British Isles was happy in the knowledge that Canadian medicine looked for guidance to the old land.

Of the close relations of British and Canadian medicine, Dr. Smith said that the British association had already held three of its annual meetings on Canadian soil and hoped to hold a fourth shortly, and that Canadian doctors in increasing numbers were seeking post-graduate experience, degrees and work in Britain.

He mentioned briefly the steps being taken towards a still freer interchange of medical men between members of the British Empire.

MESSAGE FROM A.M.A.
Dr. Ralph A. Fenton, member of the board of trustees of the American Medical Association, brought to the Canadian association the greetings of the acting president, trustees and members of the United States organization.

The greetings were tempered with sadness at the recent death of Dr. J. Tate Mason of Seattle, president of the A.M.A., who had hoped to attend the present convention, and who on his death bed had expressed his sincere good wishes to the Canadian doctors.

United States medical men, said Dr. Fenton, admired the physicians of Canada, the great names of its medical history, and its medical schools developed from the ancient institutions of Scotland and England. "The solidarity and sound common sense of your membership should be a great help towards the solution of your social problems," he said, but warned the doctors that the attempted solutions which had been applied in Europe were not necessarily suited to the conditions of this continent.

The invocation at the beginning of the meeting was given by Bishop Sexton, who also led the assembly in the Lord's Prayer.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS
During the course of the meeting, Dr. Meakins introduced distinguished medical men from all parts of the continent who were attending the conference, and who were ranged on the platform behind him.

They included Dr. E. W. Archibald, Montreal; Dr. R. L. Benson, Portland; Dr. H. E. Coe, Seattle; Dr. Emil Holman, San Francisco; Dr. Verne Hunt, Los Angeles; Dr. A. B. Hepler, Seattle; Dr. A. D. McCannell, North Dakota; Dr. J. C. Mason, Rochester; Dr. J. McLean, Portland; Dr. R. R. Newell, Stanford University; Dr. C. G. Sutherland, Rochester, and Dr. A. T. Wannamaker, Seattle.

Members of the executive of the association, past presidents, and senior members were also seated on the platform. The city of Victoria was represented by Alderman J. D. Hunter. Following the meeting Dr. and Mrs. Robertson received in the library of the hotel, and members joined in dancing and cards.

It is reported that sugar cane mosaic disease in Puerto Rico varies from little or none in fields planted with highly resistant varieties of cane or protected by careful control measures, to nearly 100 per cent infection in fields not thus safeguarded.

Cumberland, June 25.—Ideal summer weather prevailed for the annual garden party given by the Cumberland branch of the Canadian Legion, on the beautiful tree-shaded lawn of Beaufort House, by invitation of Lieut.-Col. C. W. and Lady Villiers, who were host and hostess for the afternoon.

The occasion also commemorated the first birthday anniversary of King Edward VIII since his accession to the throne, and the holiday was observed in Cumberland by the closing of all stores and by a holiday at the mines.

J. H. Cameron, assistant fire chief, and Mrs. Cameron arrived home on Saturday after attending the B.C. Fire Chiefs' Association school at Chilliwack and the Northwest Fire College at Tacoma, which was held in conjunction with the annual convention of the Washington State Fire Chiefs' Association and the Washington States Firemen's Association.

There is no process "just as good" as Pantorium DRY Cleaning

Why?

Because the Pantorium method of DRY Cleaning is not something which has sprung up overnight—it is the result of 20 years of gradually overcoming difficulties, studying fabrics, installing better machinery, following closely the research work carried on by the laboratories of the National Cleaners' and Dyers' Association.

When you send clothes to be Pantorium DRY Cleaned you notice the difference at once. They come back with all the crisp freshness of new garments. That's because they have been cleaned the right way . . . thoroughly cleaned by the Pantorium DRY Cleaning process.

ANGLERS GET JACK SPRINGS

Small Salmon in Saanich Inlet; Up-Island Fishing Good

Jack springs weighing from seven to thirteen pounds made up the quota of anglers fishing in Saanich yesterday afternoon. Weather conditions and tides were excellent for fishing but not many boats were out on the arm.

Andy Telfer, of Bakersfield, California, and Len Holyoak, fishing together, landed eight fish. Mr. Telfer is a former resident of Victoria and is now a captain in the Salvation Army of Bakersfield. He is spending his vacation here.

Bill Thorn secured four salmon weighing from twelve to thirteen pounds. Wallace McMillan got three and Jack Gilbert landed four. Dick Wittingham connected with a large one but it got free of his hook before he could reel it in. He got four jacks, however. Alex Rawlings and Al Timberlake got three and four respectively.

Len Blakney and A. S. Denny, fishing south of Bamerton, brought in four jacks. They weighed eleven, seven and two nine pounds. The anglers were using a number six brass wonder spoon.

Report received this morning from the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau indicate a good run of sea trout on the tide at the mouths of the Puntledge, Oyster, Campbell and Qualicum Rivers. Fishing in Comox Bay is not up to scratch at present, the report reads. Good trolling and fly fishing is being had at present in Upper and Lower Campbell Rivers.

Rainbow trout weighing about one and a half pounds are being caught in Taylor Arm on Sprout Lake and Taylor River.

The Oak Bay Boathouse reported this morning that anglers did not do very well yesterday in the strait waters where the big springs have been appearing of late. They may be moving in the direction of Saanich Inlet and up-island spots.

TWO CANADIAN MARKS BEATEN

Mary Pitts and Robina Higgins Shatter Records at Winnipeg Track Meet

Winnipeg, June 25.—Two Canadian records were broken and another equalled yesterday evening when the Manitoba branch of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada conducted its annual championships and, in conjunction, its Olympic trials.

Mary Pitts, bespectacled Canadian Girls in Training Club runner, set up a new intermediate 100-metres record of 12 3-5 seconds, clipping one-tenth of a second from the Canadian record hung up in 1932 by Lillian Palmer, Vancouver.

Robina Higgins, Winnipeg North End Athletic Club, shattered her own javelin throw record of 121 feet 4 inches with a throw of 123 feet 2 1/4 inches.

Mona Johnson, tiny junior sprinter from the North End Club, equalled the Canadian junior sixty-metres record in 7 4-5 seconds. Margaret Pitpatrick, Crossfield, Alta., Gwen McNeill and Grace Martin, both of Montreal, and Adelaide Adams, Toronto, jointly hold the record.

Art Chapman Now Owns Racehorse

Winnipeg, June 25.—Art Chapman, clever centre of the New York Americans in the National Hockey League, has followed in the horse-racing footsteps of the Amerks' manager, Mervin "Red" Dutton.

Chapman acquired his first thoroughbred, Tuesday when he claimed Lovesick, four-year-old bay filly, for $500. Lovesick, by Pennant, out of Mad Kiss, won the seventh race at Polo Park. Dutton has raced horses in the prairie circuit for several years.

GIVES HINTS TO SWIMMERS

Ralph Alcock to Hold Beginners and Life-saving Classes at Gorge

Timely hints aimed to avoid water accidents were given today by Ralph Alcock, lifeguard at the Gorge Boathouse, along with the announcement he would start life-saving classes on Monday morning at 10 o'clock and swimming instruction groups Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock at the Gorge.

"Last year parents gave us splendid co-operation in preventing children from going into the water too soon after their meals and in stopping non-swimmers from going beyond their depths on water-wings and inflated tires. If we can secure the same assistance this year, there should be little danger," Ralph said.

He warned canoeists there were no grounds for accidents under the Gorge Bridge. A raft had been constructed on each side of the narrows where paddlers could leave their crafts and pull them through the rapids, Mr. Alcock said.

Those wishing to take part in the life saving and swimming classes are requested to leave their names with Mr. Alcock at the Gorge. He will be assisted in teaching swimming by members of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club.

Attendances to date have been well ahead of those of last year.

Oppose Short School Course

Education Department Says City Move For Three-year High "Retrograde"

The provincial Department of Education feels the move by members of Victoria's school board to permit continuance of a three-year high school full matriculation course "would be a retrograde step."

In a letter replying to a communication from the board requesting action to permit a student to complete the full course in three years, Dr. S. J. Willis, superintendent of education, voiced that opinion. The letter was read at the board's meeting yesterday evening and tabled for further consideration at its next meeting.

The text of the communication follows: "I acknowledge receipt of your letter of June 15, conveying to this department a resolution passed by your board in connection with the revision of our high school curriculum."

"The revision has been under way for several months. When it was first taken in hand there was a general invitation given through the press to school boards, parent-teacher organizations and other bodies to submit suggestions for changes in the curriculum if they felt that they had something of value to contribute. Several organizations took advantage of that invitation but no other school board in the province has suggested that complete matriculation be based upon a three-year course. The department feels that it would be a retrograde step to carry out such a suggestion."

"The standard for our junior matriculation is high, but perhaps not too high. It is quite contrary to the principles of sound pedagogy to force students through the course in a shorter period than that normally taken and a school which follows that practice is doing a dis-service to the students enrolling therein. Students should be permitted to take the work in a manner which would bring the greatest educational advantage to them. They should have the opportunity to elect several optional subjects to fill out and enrich their high school course. This has been possible under the existing high school curriculum and has been in practice in all the large high schools of the province."

Concerned Over City Building

Ratepayers Note Flow of Home Owners From Victoria to Municipalities

Executive members of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association yesterday evening gave consideration to the building question as it affected the city and the surrounding municipalities.

Figures were quoted to show city building permits covered construction valued at $1,077,102 up to June 17 this year against $298,842 in outside municipalities for the same period.

The manner in which residents were moving into adjoining municipalities was viewed with alarm by the association which decided to ask the council what action it was taking to try to stem the flow of home-owners from the city.

NOT ALL HOMES

In the building permits issued so far this year, several major projects were listed that did not include homes. It was noted that if they were deducted from the figures for dwellings, the total value of house construction would be but $1,011,892.

During the meeting the executive gave further consideration to the scheme to introduce token taxation here as a means of securing revenue for relief expenditure. Fred J. Crowhurst, president of the association, today noted the matter had been taken up before the City Council and that body had shown the ratepayers the scheme could not be applied without legislative action by higher governments.

ORGAN AND VOCAL RECITAL SATURDAY

On Saturday evening at 8:15 o'clock the Victoria Organists and Choral Conductors Association will meet at the Metropolitan United Church of this city when they will be entertained by an organ recital by Edward Parsons, assisted by Miss Dorothy Parsons, soprano soloist. In view of the unusually interesting programme it has been decided to throw this event open to the general public and a good attendance is expected.

Following the recital which will be of forty-five minutes duration, the organ will be open for the organists present to try.

At the close of the meeting in the church the association will hold a short business meeting and election of officers for the coming year and arrangements will be made for choral selections for the 1937 Victoria Musical Festival. Further particulars can be had from W. H. Muncey, the president, or Jack Smith, the secretary.

Empire Dinner Is Rotary Event

Canadians, Britishers and Others Hears Addresses in Atlantic City, N.J.

Atlantic City, N.J., June 25.—More than 1,000 delegates from Canada, Great Britain, Ireland, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa attended a "British empire dinner" yesterday evening in connection with Rotary International's twenty-seventh annual convention.

There were 276 Canadians on the list of guests, including W. W. Emerson of Winnipeg, publisher of an international directory of the organization. Speakers included Pat Montford, publisher of the Dublin Public Opinion; Kenneth J. Young of Capetown, first vice-president, and Mr. Emerson.

Mr. Emerson, who will be succeeded by W. W. J. Cairns of Toronto as Canadian director, said the Canadian delegation, with the aid of the other British empire groups, would urge that Rotary's rules be changed to permit organization of clubs in rural districts where there are no towns. At present, he said, Rotary was primarily an urban movement.

"Folly and Farewell"

By MARIE BLIZARD

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Linda Bourne, twenty years old, pretty, is left almost penniless by the sudden death of her father.

Peter Gardner, newspaper reporter, helps her get a job writing society news. Linda is in love with Dix Carter, but he goes abroad to study singing. When Peter asks Linda to marry him she agrees, but postpones the wedding.

Honey Harmon, film star, comes to Newtown making a "personal appearance" tour. She buys a scenario written by Linda. Later Linda goes to Hollywood and, by expressing ideas that are really Peter's, acquires a reputation for being able to discover new stars. Soon she is a celebrity.

Dix Carter comes to Hollywood to get into films as an actor. Linda tries to help him. To please Dix, she invites Basil Thorne, director, to her home, although she dislikes and distrusts Thorne.

Peter Gardner writes a successful play and later comes to Hollywood. Linda sees him and they quarrel.

Thorne drives her to a mountain resort where the company is to begin work next day. Arriving, they find the place deserted.

NO GO ON WITH THE STORY

It wasn't only the night that made Linda shiver, though it was bitterly cold, penetrating even the warm softness of her coat. Looking at the dark cabins and the figure of Basil Thorne, bending over the motor, she shivered again.

"I'm horribly sorry," she said, plucking at his sleeve. "I've made a dreadful mistake. When I got home late tonight my maid told me there were telephone messages, but I was in such a hurry to get out, I didn't look at them. They must have told me there was a change of plans. I can't tell you how sorry I am about having you drive me so far to no purpose. As you said, they must have been unable to get here."

Thorne was tinkering with some mechanical gadget. "Not sorry, too," Linda. "Sorry for you, because it looks as though we aren't going to be able to get out of here. This feed line is disconnected some way. I don't know the first thing about engines or their make-up, but I doesn't look to me as though I could do anything about it." Linda was getting a little desperate. "Basil, we've got to get out. We can't stay here all night!" He lowered the hood and looked about him. "It might have been worse. At least there are cabins." He shivered. "Sure is cold in these mountains at night."

"Can't you do something?" she pleaded. "Can't you tie something up somewhere, so that we can get back to Hemet?"

He turned his coat collar up and shrugged his massive shoulders. His smile was properly rueful.

"Not a thing with the car, I'm afraid. We might walk, but it must be nearly thirty miles to the last house, and there are mountain lions in these parts." He hadn't the least idea whether there were or not, and Linda didn't know. The cold was making her bones ache and the morning seemed far away, indeed.

"The company will be out in the morning," he said.

Linda's quick glance showed him that he hadn't helped much by that remark.

He drew her toward him in a kind, big brotherly embrace. "What would a little ribbon clerk do if she found herself in a situation like this with a priest?" he asked.

Linda permitted herself a very small smile. "I don't think she'd fight," she said. "But she might ask him what he thought it best to do."

"Thereby showing a lot of sense for a ribbon clerk," he answered. "Now, the point is, what would he say?" He looked about him thoughtfully, and Linda felt strangely relieved. She wasn't afraid of him any more.

"If he were a gentleman he wouldn't ask her to walk home. He would find shelter for her, and just because he's a director and not a priest, he wouldn't mean that I can't do the same. What about these cabins?"

"I'll take the one with the roses climbing over the door," Linda said, with a gaily she did not feel.

"We're all out of roses, but would an orchid bush interest you?" he asked, leading her to the nearest of the broken-down cabins. With a flashlight, they studied its exterior. It was not inviting. The windows were broken. Through the gaps that had been windows they saw the filth and debris within. Linda shivered and drew into the warm arms around her.

"I'll sit in the car while you find two habitable cabins," she told him, dreading to be alone even in the car in that overwhelming blackness and freezing outdoors.

He was gone ten minutes and it seemed an hour.

"There's only one," he reported, with windows, bunks, a fair amount of cleanliness and a hearth. May I share it with you?"

Somewhere in the outer darkness a penetrating wail broke the silence while he waited for her answer. Frightened, she drew close to him. "You say," she said, "that we'll stay up all night and talk about movies."

"It used to be a boy scout," he said, among other nonsensical things, as he gathered twigs and started a fire. It was cold in the cabin, but gradually it grew warmer and Linda's eyes grew heavy with want of sleep. They talked and talked. Later Linda couldn't remember what they talked about. She only knew she talked with a kind of desperation to keep from wondering what would happen next, either with Thorne or with the people who would know that she spent the night with him. In Hollywood, it was no easier to explain such things than in Newtown.

They were hungry, too, as the night wore on. The last thing Linda remembered before waking in the cold, dark dawn, was wishing she had some food.

She stirred in her sleep because she was cold. Her muscles were stiff. Her crepe frock was rumpled and crushed. By the early, wavering light she saw that it was nearly 5 o'clock in the morning. She didn't remember going to sleep, and opened her eyes wider and wider to find herself on a blanket-covered wooden bunk, her own coat thrown over her, and Thorne's coat across her stockinged feet. Across the room in the grey light she could make out the lines of Thorne's sleeping figure. So she had gone to sleep and he had tucked her away! That was thoughtful, but then Linda realized that the new day was on its way.

That would mean that her company would soon arrive. And find her there, sharing a cabin with Basil Thorne!

She couldn't be found there! Their motor was out of order and Thorne had told her it was thirty miles back to the last house. Linda thought aside the coats and stepped out gingerly on the rough, cold floor. Through the windows she saw the sky getting lighter.

Better for her to be lost, not to appear with the company than to try to explain her appearance under the circumstances. But could she get out alone? The roads, even in daylight, were unfamiliar.

She slipped into her shoes and approached Thorne. Shaking him, she cried, "Basil, please wake up. It's nearly 5 o'clock. We've got to get back. We would never be able to explain."

And when he was awake and had shaken the sleep from his eyes, he looked about him. "Don't be stupid, my dear. Of course, we can explain. That's the only thing we can do. We can't get out of here without a car. Let's get a little more sleep and we'll talk about it later."

He closed his eyes and drew the golden blanket closer to his chin. Silently Linda watched him for a moment, and then, putting on her coat and tucking her hair under her hat, she opened the door softly and made her way out to the road. She thought she might have cried if she hadn't been angry.

Linda may have walked two miles, she thought, "I must have been twenty. The thin soles of her shoes were small protection against the hard road. The early morning air

Mrs. Harold C. Bray, Maddison Street, wore this striking "magpie" gown of black taffeta and white organdie at the garden party at Government House on Tuesday afternoon. The Times photographer snapped her as she crossed the lawn. There is a suggestion of the early Victorian about the gown and the jaunty angle of the hat and its piquant nose-veil.

Miss Ailsa Barclay Is Bride of Mr. John G. Ritchie

Summer flowers in pastel shades were used in decoration of the Metropolitan United Church yesterday evening, for the wedding of Ailsa, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Barclay, 1215 Rockland Avenue, and Mr. John Gerald Ritchie, fifth son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Ritchie, 1321 Haultain Street. Rev. E. F. Church performed the ceremony at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of a large congregation, the bride and groom standing beneath an arch of roses, set between tall baskets filled with flowers in shades of mauve, white and yellow.

WHITE-LACE GOWN Entering the church with her father, the bride was a girlish picture in her wedding gown of white lace, fashioned with a long train, long sleeves and an Elizabethan collar. Her veil of net was embroidered at the corners with lovers' knots, and was worn with a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses, showered with lilies of the valley.

There were two attendants, Miss Myra Edwards in a pretty gown of pale yellow lace, and a matching pale blue, carrying a bouquet of African daisies in varied hues, blue lace flowers and yellow roses, and little lace Rosalie, dressed in a pale mauve Kate Greenaway frock and poke bonnet, trimmed with yellow daisies, carrying a colonial posy of blending flowers.

Mr. Wilfred Ritchie supported his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Stephen Barclay and Mr. Lorne Ritchie. Mr. Edward Parsons read the wedding marches, and also accompanied Mr. Douglas Ritchie, who sang "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

MANY GUESTS Following the ceremony, a largely attended reception was held at the bride's home, where the young couple received their friends in the drawing-room, standing beneath a blue arch embossed with golden wedding bells interspersed with flowers.

Mrs. Barclay was gowned in shell pink lace and a matching hat, and Mrs. Ritchie wore a dress of blue lace with touches of pink, and a blue hat, shoulder apron and blue gloves completing their attire.

The supper table, with its lace cloth, was decorated with vases of pink carnations and tall, lighted, pink tapers, and centred with the wedding cake, which was cut by the bride after her health had been proposed by Mr. Church.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie left for a honeymoon in Vancouver and Seattle, the bride traveling in a tailored black and white costume, with white accessories, and a corsage bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. They will live in the Cowper Apartments, Menzies Street, on their return.

Among the many lovely gifts, was a silver tea service from the staff of the General Assessor's Office, of which the groom is a member. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Ailsa Barclay and Miss Margery Barclay, from Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. William Russell, Duncan, and Mr. and Mrs. B. Clegg, Oakland, California.

Dr. Harvey Agnew of Toronto, Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Fitzgerald of Toronto, Dr. George S. Young of Toronto, Dr. J. S. Burris of Kamloops, Dr. and Mrs. Roscoe Graham of Toronto, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. McGuffin of Calgary, Dr. C. G. Sutherland of Rochester, Minn., Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Walker, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Mitchell, Dr. and Mrs. D. M. Baillie, Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Kenney, Dr. J. F. Argue of Ottawa, Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Campbell of Toronto and Dr. J. D. Balfour.

A farewell gathering was held recently at the home of Mrs. J. F. Argue, 923 Collinson Street, by the "Falconers" in honor of their leader, Rev. J. Harwood A. Warr. An enjoyable evening was spent in music and song. Mr. Hunt entertained the boys with humorous songs and monologues. A buffet supper was served, during which Mr. Warr was presented with a beautiful bronze lamp as a token of appreciation of his guidance.

Warr, Ritchie Macmillan, Jack Church, Albert Coomber, Bert Simpson, Ernie Bishop, Harvey Moir, Harold Williams, Mun Hooper, Hing Hope, Tommy Wilson, Douglas Hunt, Don Wheldon, Lester Langley, Jeff Macdonald, Louis Dallimore.

A delightful children's party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Purdy, 118 Robertson Street. The evening started with a game of musical chairs, followed by "Find the Thimble." A humorous skit was presented by Anne Ford and Roland Van Healy, entitled: "What Happens When Mother Leaves Home." The tea table was prettily decorated with illuminated candles and a centerpiece of carnations and roses. The invited guests were: Anne Ford, Norie Wilson, Ely Miles, Peggy Morrison, Dot Peterson, Honor Craig, Mary and "Maggie" Purdy and little Audrey Loft, Masters "Buddy" Andrews, "Ben" Elliott, Bobbie MacMurchie, Roland Van Healy, "Oats" Gardner, "Sonny" Shep, Oakie Guelph and Al Martin.

Visitors Entertained At Hatley Yesterday

Doctors and Wives Enjoy Mrs. James Dunsmuir's Charming Hospitality Luncheon Parties at Oak Bay

Hatley Park was the mecca of several hundred of the visiting and local medical men and their wives yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. James Dunsmuir kindly threw open her beautiful home for a garden party in honor of the delegates attending the Canadian Medical convention.

Mrs. A. Seiden Humphreys received the guests in the unavoidable absence, through indisposition, of her mother, Mrs. Dunsmuir. Smilingly, she greeted the delegates with a bouquet of gardenias, and a black hat with brief veil, she welcomed them in the drawing-room which was beautifully arranged with Calla lilies, roses and pink carnations. Lovely flowers also graced the spacious entrance hall, the fireplace being banked with palms, ferns and begonias, while huge bowls of delphiniums, struck a vivid note of color.

The guests then proceeded to the terrace, overlooking a panorama of sea and distant Olympics, where an orchestra under the direction of W. F. Ritchie, dispensed music throughout the afternoon.

Flowers were arranged in glorious profusion everywhere, the tea tables at the east-end of the terrace being arranged with great bowls of delphiniums, sweet peas, carnations and snapdragons in shades of pink, blue and mauve. During the afternoon the guests wandered through the lovely estate, admiring its many beauties.

LONDON, June 25.—Ten years ago fourteen girl members of the old British National Opera Company arranged to meet at noon on midsummer day (June 4), 1936.

Seven of them kept the trust yesterday on the steps of Covent Garden Opera House. Ely Gerald traveled from Kenya Colony, and Olive Joyner from the Federated Malay States to attend. Of the three absentees, two are dead.

Curiously, the only one who failed to keep the appointment was prevented through a rehearsal engagement at the same house, where the promise was made a decade ago.

Choir Honor Pastor and Members

Presentations at Centennial Social Gathering

On Tuesday evening members of the Centennial Church choir gathered at the home of Mr. J. W. Buckler, Government Street, to bid farewell to several members. Games were enjoyed under the convener'ship of Joe Almond. Much amusement was derived from the "newspaper" which was created by four groups. Mrs. J. Almond and Miss Janet Hay served dainty refreshments, assisted by Misses Clarice Tupman and Dorcas Pendray.

A presentation was made to Mr. J. L. Jeffrey for his long and faithful service as a member of the choir. Rev. and Mrs. C. G. MacKenzie were then presented with a picture. Mr. J. W. Dilworth speaking of the high esteem in which they are held and of the assistance rendered by them both to the choir. Mr. MacKenzie, in reply, spoke of the value of co-operation between choir and minister and felt that this spirit of friendliness had existed during his pastorate at Centennial.

Mr. Paul Green wished Mrs. W. C. Lock, who is soon to sail for England, "bon voyage" and a small token of the choir's good wishes was presented to her. Mr. Green then spoke of the loss sustained by the choir in the pending departure of Mr. J. Almond, who, with his wife, is to make his home in Vancouver. Mr. J. W. Buckler supplementing Mr. Green's remarks and also thanking Mrs. Almond for her cheerful and effective service.

W.A. Made Many Gifts To Jubilee Hospital

Annual Reports Yesterday Reveal Big Contribution Made By Women's Group; Mrs. John Phethean Again President

Another chapter in the long record of invaluable, voluntary service to the cause of the sick and suffering was marked "finis" by the women's auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday afternoon, when the annual meeting marked the close of an active year.

ACTIVE YEAR
Reviewing the activities of the year, Miss Margaret I. Curry, the secretary, noted a total membership of 340. Sewing meetings were held twice monthly under the direction of Mrs. H. G. S. Heisterman, 798 pieces of work being completed. Funds were raised through the medium of the hospital ball, tag day, a sports meet, the raffle of a fox fur, and by membership fees amounting to $608.

Equipment purchased for the hospital included: Inductotherm, $410; wheelchairs, $150; curtain rods, $100; bedpan sterilizer, $241.60; awning for Miss Mitchell's office, $23.60; sturps for labor bed, $80; 65 yards chintz, $48; also flannellette for baby gowns, baby sheeting, blankets for the maternity floor, Christmas cheer, etc., making a total of $1,463.35.

The audited financial statement, presented by Mrs. Elizabeth Sheppard, the treasurer, showed total receipts of $2,044.48, while disbursements were $1,104.67, leaving a balance in hand of $1,024.13. The Queen Victoria maternity ward account showed receipts of $655.04 and disbursements $358.98.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Mrs. P. E. Taylor, convener of the membership committee, reported a total of 340 members, and dues to the amount of $608 received.

Miss Claire Laybourn reported for the junior W.A., recapitulating its activities, with special reference to social service work carried on by the group in various ways. Mrs. L. W. G. Tallamy moved the vote of thanks to the juniors for their invaluable assistance.

Reports of the sewing committee by Mrs. Heisterman and the visiting committee by Mrs. Tallamy were received.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

Mrs. John Phethean, the president, in her annual address made reference to the new by-laws now in effect, increasing the size of the executive to forty, and elective at the annual meeting. She thanked the members and officers for their assistance, with special reference to Miss Curry, the indefatigable secretary, the members of the hospital staff, the press, and the public for their generous support.

OFFICERS ELECTED

President, Mrs. John Phethean; first vice-president, Mrs. L. O. W. Tallamy; second vice-president, Mrs. P. E. Taylor; third vice-president, Mrs. Vaughan Roberts; secretary, Mrs. Margaret I. Curry; treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Sheppard; collectorship convener, Mrs. P. E. Taylor; sewing convener, Mrs. H. G. S. Heisterman. Executive committee: Mrs. F. V. Crimp, Miss Ogilvie, Mrs. Thomas Miller, Miss C. G. Alexander, Mrs. E. H. Griffiths, Mrs. A. Bashford, Mrs. Hugh Allen and Mrs. N. D. Thompson.

Mr. Hugh Allen, president of the board of directors, congratulated the W.A. on the tremendous amount of work done for the hospital, and also commented on the financial success of their undertakings, noting with amusement that everything undertaken by the W.A. seemed to result in a substantial profit. The directors appreciated not only the material but also the moral support given by the ladies, the president noted.

Dr. T. W. Walker, medical superintendent, added his word of praise to that of Mr. Allen's, paying tribute to the work of the W.A., which, he described as intensive and extensive. The sterilizers, lamps, electric heater, linen gifts, and the cubicles given by the W.A. had "helped to transform the hospital," he said, contributing immensely to the comfort and well-being of the patients.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the officers and executive, with special praise to Mrs. Sheppard, the treasurer, for H. H. Shandley, for his assistance in drawing up the by-laws, and to the press.

At the monthly meeting which preceded the annual meeting, tentative plans were made for the annual hospital ball early in October, and for the raffle of the fox fur at the Willows Fair in aid of the funds.

Rare Birds and Dog Arrive From Japan

Seattle Couple Return on Ss. President McKinley With Unusual Companions, Which They Personally Tended

After a hurried trip to Japan, during which they purchased a large number of Oriental birds and a rare Japanese fighting dog, Mr. and Mrs. Charles George Jones of Seattle, who are in charge of the Frederick and Nelson pet shop, were in Victoria this morning aboard the American Mail liner President McKinley.

"It was a vacation going out," Mr. and Mrs. Jones said. "But coming back it was hard work. Most of the birds had to be fed by hand four times a day. We were on duty fourteen hours each day and sometimes at night."

The more delicate of the birds were fed a special formula of baby food and hard-boiled egg. Most of the birds looked after the birds personally in the liner's baggage-room. Fortunately the weather was exceptionally smooth.

Perhaps the rarest bird brought back was a Barbet from Formosa. It is a member of the hunting group family and is an insanely jealous bird, Mr. Jones said.

INDIAN MYNAHS
Fourteen baby Indian Mynahs, which are great talkers, three Japanese skylarks, 100 Japanese rice birds, a pair of star finches from Australia, a Japanese robin, a Japanese grey thrush, which is an excellent singer, and a blue fly catcher were others birds brought back across the Pacific.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones had ten days in Japan. They spent this time in the larger cities, poking around the native shops in search of rare birds. It was their first trip, but it has proved so successful they hope to go out again next year and continue to China and India.

FIGHTING DOG
On the boat deck was housed their female Japanese fighting dog, which is believed to be the only one of its kind in North America. It came from the island of Shikoku and is two months old. When it is full grown it will weigh 170 pounds. It was specially bred by a Seattle dog lover.

In the olden days these Tosa dogs were used for fighting much as the cocks are used in the Philippine Islands and Cuba. Law in Japan now forbids these dog fights, although they are still carried on secretly in the isolated villages and in the hills.

Some years ago the breed became almost extinct, Mr. Jones said.

"They were crossed with other dogs and it was very hard to get one of pure blood. They have been crossed with everything under the sun," he said.

The dog on the McKinley this morning was an intelligent animal and stood the long sea voyage exceptionally well. The male of the species is always a great fighter. When trained, and has been known to tear a bull to pieces.

TO EXPLORE B.C. COAST

Amus Burg, Famed Writer and Lecturer, Will Make Trip on Small Craft

Vancouver, June 25.—An interesting visitor at the Canadian National Steamships office here yesterday was Amus Burg, famed National Geographic magazine writer, explorer and lecturer, whose hair-raising adventures in the South Sea have been witnessed by thousands of travel motion picture enthusiasts. This summer he will make motion pictures stories in Alaska and in British Columbia's Queen Charlotte Islands for release through one of the large Hollywood organizations. He also plans to write a number of travel articles in which the waters of British Columbia will receive prominence.

Mr. Burg is sailing north in his sprit-rigged surf boat Dorjun. In this small craft he has retraced the Charles Darwin's voyages in the Beagle, explored the Patagonian Archipelago, passed and re-passed Cape Horn and visited the home of the Yachan-Indians, most primitive of the earth's peoples.

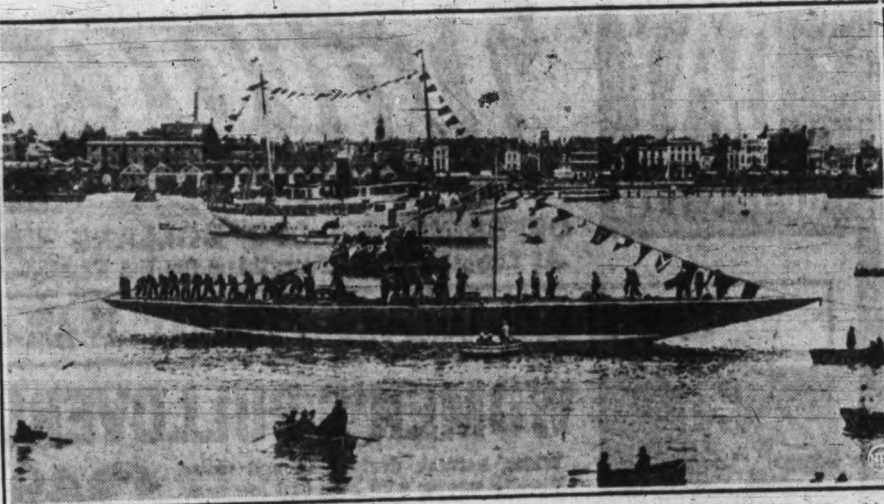

VESSELS IN MISHAP
Through C. A. McNicholl, general passenger agent, Canadian National Railways and Steamships, an old acquaintance, Mr. Burg received a variety of information on his forthcoming trip and visited with Captain D. McKinnon of the Ss. Prince Charles, which makes the scenic Queen Charlotte Islands run.

St. Pierre, Miquelon, June 25.—The Portuguese three-masted National Infante Sagres reported upon reaching St. Pierre yesterday it had rammed and sunk another Portuguese motorship, the Santa Luzia, during a fog on the Grand Banks, but had rescued the crew of forty-four.

almost extinct, Mr. Jones said. "They were crossed with other dogs and it was very hard to get one of pure blood. They have been crossed with everything under the sun," he said.

BRITISH HOPES ARE PINNED ON THIS FINE CRAFT

British yachtsmen made a gala occasion of the launching of Endeavour II, T. O. M. Sopwith's Class 3 yacht, with which he is expected to challenge for the America's Cup next year. The beautiful hull is seen aloft. In Gosport Harbor, England, immediately after taking the water. Nearly four feet longer than Endeavour I, the new yacht incorporates new and secret features.

DOWN THE GANGWAY

Several Passengers Come Ashore Here From President McKinley—Three Dentists Cross-Pacific on Same Liner—Many Orient People Aboard—Missionaries Arrive on Furlough.

It was an interesting list of passengers the American Mail liner President McKinley brought into Victoria this morning from the Orient. There were seventeen passengers for Victoria, the remainder proceeding to Seattle with the ship at 10 o'clock.

Several missionaries were among the passengers who disembarked here. They included Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Birch of the China Inland Mission, who will spend a year in Vancouver, Rev. and Mrs. F. G. Grobb of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, from Hongkong, who will spend their furlough in Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. John B. Kuhn of the China Inland Mission, who will spend the summer in Vancouver.

On a leisurely trip around the world, Capt. John R. Kennedy and C. J. Craig of Ireland disembarked here from the President McKinley. Others coming ashore here were: Miss N. L. Bailey of Hongkong, en route to England for the summer; Robert Barrie, formerly with the Culty Dairy of Shanghai, en route to Scotland; Joseph Cohen of Montreal, returning from a business trip to the Orient; J. Eric Nichols of Singapore, bound for England on furlough; and Mrs. John Shaw and Miss Barbara Shaw of Hongkong, wife and daughter of John Shaw, editor of The Hongkong Telegraph and former member of the editorial staff of The Victoria Times.

Any of the passengers on the President McKinley suffering from toothache this voyage was in good hands, for there were three dentists aboard. As a matter of fact, though, their services were not wanted. Dr. D. J. Collins, prominent dental surgeon of Shanghai, with Mrs. Collins and Miss Martha Collins, were en route to eastern United States for the summer. Dr. J. G. Hanna of Singapore was aboard with Mrs. Hanna, en route to England for six months, and Dr. H. E. Johnson of Tacoma and his son were aboard, returning from a pleasure trip to the Orient.

Two Orientals, both leaders in their chosen profession were other passengers on the President McKinley. Katsuma Dan, instructor of biology at the Imperial University of Tokyo, was en route to the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole, Mass. and Europe, and Benjamin Chan, magazine editor with the Liang Yui Printing and Publishing Company of Shanghai, will spend six months on this continent.

Business people on the President McKinley were M. D. Knapp, head manager of the United States rubber plantations in Sumatra, with Mrs. Knapp; L. H. Lousier, commissioner of public works in the French Municipal Council of Shanghai, en route to France; Dr. J. W. Strong, vice-president and general manager of the American Rubber Company at Zamboanga; Primo Villanar, engineer and assistant sanitary engineer of the California Water Service Company of Stockton.

Other arrivals from across the Pacific were Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Ainsworth of Toronto; Mrs. W. S. Blissett of Shanghai; Miss Katherine Boeye of Shanghai; Louis Henkel of Shanghai; Miss Esme Keeler of Birmingham; Jacob Maleh, merchant of Brooklyn; Miss Jeanne May of Shanghai; James D. Nixon of Shanghai; Miss Millicent Palmer of Seattle; Mrs. W. Leonard Parkey of Canton; Lieut. E. S. Pearce of the United States Navy; Rev. and Mrs. Charles Reeder and four children, en route to Dayton, Ohio; Mrs. W. H. Thomas of Hongkong; Dr. Ramona Tombo of Manila; Miss Edith Traver of Hongkong; Miss Jeannette Veldman of Shanghai; Mrs. M. D. Vergara and two sons of Manila, and Mr. and Mrs. Max Eschweiger and four children, Lutheran missionaries, en route to Chicago.

This new shipment brings the total amount of silver sent to the United States since the signing of the Sino-American treaty agreement to $60,000,000 (Mex).

Negro Delegates Meet Opposition

South Carolinians Walk Out of U.S. Democratic Convention at Philadelphia

Associated Press
Philadelphia, June 25.—Aroused by the presence of negro delegates and by other things, Senator Ellison D. Smith, a delegate-at-large from South Carolina, said yesterday he was "through" with the Democratic National Convention.

"The situation in the south before and since the Civil War makes it impossible for the south to recognize and accept the negro as an equal political factor," said Mr. Smith, who has been a member of the Senate since 1909.

"Political equality means social equality, and social equality means inter-marriage, and that means the mongrelizing of the American race. IN HIS PLACE

"There is not a man in America that has more regard for the negro in his place than I have. "But realizing as I do these unspeakable dangers inherent in this thing, I cannot and will not be a party to the recognition of the 14th and 15th amendments.

"Nor will I support any political organization that looks upon the negro and caters to him as a political and social equal. "It may be that South Carolina and the south—the Confederate states—have forgotten reconstruction and its horrors."

"I'm through, I'm sick and tired of the whole thing. I'll go home and do some talking."

Senator Smith said he understood a negro delegate has been selected to second the nomination of President Roosevelt.

Kiwanians At White House

Delegates to International Convention Hear President Roosevelt in Brief Address

Associated Press
Washington, June 25.—President Roosevelt told delegates to the Kiwanian International convention yesterday there was "much useful community work which voluntary civic groups can take off the shoulders of poor old government."

Greeting delegates and their wives on the White House Lawn, President Roosevelt praised the good work Kiwanians had done in aiding crippled children throughout the country, and commended the clubs for their efforts to carry out a "good neighbor" policy in both local and international fields.

STRONGER LINKS

During the day the convention pledged itself to "every practical effort" to establish friendly relations between nations, and urged a "better understanding of the common problems" of Canada and the United States.

F. Trafford Taylor of Winnipeg was elected a vice-president.

ANNUAL REPORT
Annual reports of the committees on boys' and girls' work, child welfare and underprivileged child work for 1935-37 were heard today at the closing session of the convention.

In vocational guidance work each Kiwanian will continue to aid students interested in his business or profession. Character training, back-to-school movements, health education and planned use of leisure time are all included in community-wide programmes for the coming year.

BETTER WORLD

Will Durant of New York, philosopher and author, told the Kiwanians four threatening and basic problems, biological, economic, moral and political, confront civilization.

"These problems are so vital and their simultaneous attack constitutes a major crisis in history," he said.

The most fundamental of these problems is biological, according to Mr. Durant. He criticized the low birth rate among the better classes and the high birth rate of mediocrity.

"This breeding from the bottom and dying at the top is flooding our cities with millions at the very time when invention has made mere muscle superfluous and has placed a premium on brains," he said.

NO DISCOURAGEMENT

But Mr. Durant advised that people need not be discouraged or fearful. Democracy had preserved its liberties and the economic system even in confusion fed and clothed and sheltered the people. He advocated segregating defective aggrandise reproduction, encouraging fertility among the able and restoring marriage to a natural age, encouraging parentage among the married.

"Perhaps we can take steps toward political regeneration by equalizing educational opportunities," he advised.

It is reported from China that motor fuel has been produced from soybean oil.

ASKS TRAINED HEALTH MEN

Dr. H. E. Young Criticizes Favoritism in Appointments

Canadian Press
Vancouver, June 25.—Political favoritism in the appointment of men to administer health programmes was criticized yesterday by Dr. H. E. Young of Victoria, president of the State and Provincial Health Authorities of North America, in an address at the public health convention here.

"We'll never get anywhere if little political parties say to a man, 'You health officer,'" Dr. Young said. "We must have men who are properly qualified—men with degrees, men who have taken post-graduate courses. Then progress will be made. "It is our duty to see the country builds up men, women and children who are sturdy and healthy and not a burden to their country," he said. "At present we are spending hundreds of millions of dollars to drag along 'dead wood'."

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

HEAVY MAKEUP WILL CONCEAL PRETTINESS

By ALICIA HART

The vogue for more feminine, truly pretty clothes calls for natural-looking makeup and softer hair styles. Quantities of eye-shadow, layers of lipstick and a heavy coating of powder give you an older, sophisticated appearance that is entirely out of keeping with softer, really womanly dress and hair.

A summer dress that slenderizes your waistline, widens your shoulders and creates a youthful, little girl air, and a wide-brimmed, lady-like hat will lose half their charm if your face looks as if you had jumped head first into rouge and lipstick pots.

First of all, make sure that your skin is meticulously clean. A dingy, dusty complexion never is pretty. Then use cream rouge ever so sparingly, placing it well up on your cheek bones and blending it outward until no rough edges remain. Cover this with powder that matches exactly the tone of your skin (most women choose shades which are too dark), let it set, then dust off the excess.

Dry your lips before you apply lipstick, let it set for a few moments, rub lightly with a piece of cleansing tissue, then moisten. This way, your lips will look fresh, young and delicately colored, instead of heavily painted. And the color will stay on for hours.

You ought to spend extra time on your hands, too. Rough, red ones certainly aren't pretty. This is a year when strong and capable looking hands count for a good deal less than soft, white, feminine varieties such as you read about in love stories. Be careful about nail polish, too. Pinkish, natural and light tawny shades do more to make you pretty than vivid scarlet tones.

Frost damage to early foliage on many trees of northeastern states this year is the sort of injury that weakens the constitution of a tree, making it more susceptible to certain fungous and insect attacks.

W. H. Cox Sets Pace In British Open Golf Championship

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By FETE SALLAWAY

WALTER HAGEN, one of the greatest tournament golfers in the history of the sport, recently made some interesting remarks on the winning of championships. Clubs have changed a lot in a quarter of a century. The ball has undergone revolutionary changes. Courses have been improved. But, as Hagen points out, the same mental quality that decided golf championships when he participated in the first of his twenty-two United States open championships in 1913 still is paramount—concentration.

"There were thirty golfers at Baltusrol who had the mechanical skill required to win the recent United States open, but how many of them could keep on concentrating for seventy-two holes?" asks Hagen. "How many could dismiss a bad shot as soon as it was made and focus their minds on the next stroke?"

"I could do that once, but my mind strays now."

"Mechanically I'm hitting the ball more soundly than I did twenty years ago. I'll go along fine for five or six holes, and then miff a simple little shot which looked impossible to miss. That means that my mind slipped a cog. Something distracted my attention momentarily. I still concentrate on the tough spots, but I can't rattle my thoughts on the easy ones as in years gone by."

"After you've been in the spotlight for twenty years you lose a certain keenness."

"Bobby Jones could concentrate to a greater degree than I did twenty years ago. Here is an example of how the Georgian walked off his mind from all outside happenings."

"When Jones won the United States amateur at Breunau in 1923, one of his drives hit a spectator. The victim dropped as though he had been an anvil. They rang for an ambulance."

"Such an accident would have unnerved most competitors, but Jones was concentrating as only he could and the incident didn't distract him. He lived in a little world of his own. He didn't hear people shouting. He saw nothing but the ball; thought of nothing but the next shot."

Hagen attributes golfers falling away after comparatively brief winning streaks to their having played in a self-hypnotic trance.

"Johnny Farrell was invincible during 1927 and part of 1928 when his mind was focused on hitting the ball," explains the Haig. "He won nine or ten big tournaments in a row before his concentration cracked. Jones could sustain that fixity of mind longer than any of his contemporaries. He won seven major opens and finished second four times. I was concentrating that way when I won four British opens."

Hagen singles out Gene Sarazen as one of the few golfers who can force himself to concentrate. This requires remarkable will power.

Putting largely is mental. Hagen uses Johnny Revolta to illustrate.

"Revolta goes boldly for the back of the cup despite tricky folds in the green," says the most famous of the professionals. "He expects to hole every ten-foot putt and isn't afraid of running past the hole because he knows he can sink it coming back. I was that way once."

Excitement keeps up stars accustomed to large galleries. Hagen attributes his splendid showing in the United States open over treacherous Oakmont a year ago to being stimulated by the big crowd, the noise, and confusion.

Greens ringed deep with people outline the target and give seasoned performers a sense of security. If the approach is a bit off line it may strike a spectator and carom onto the green. The human buffer lessens fear of overrunning the carpet.

In picking a winner of a major tournament, Hagen seeks an ornery combatant.

"A player mentally on edge is apt to get mean just like a boxer on the eve of a big fight," asserts Hagen.

"He will growl at you if you speak to him, if he happens to have that sort of a disposition, or else he may answer you politely with a smile and yet never absorb a word you say."

A general meeting of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association will be held Tuesday evening in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium at 8 o'clock. General business, including the arrangements for the second fishing competition of the association in Saanich Inlet on July 5, will take place. Buttons and other awards will be presented.

Ryder Cup Star Has Subpar 70 In First Round

Has One-stroke Lead Over James Adams, Scottish International, at Hoylake

COTTON-SARAZEN BOTH HAVE 73'S

Hoylake, Eng., June 25.—A brilliant four-under-par round of 70 gave W. H. Cox, member of the 1935 British Ryder Cup team, the lead in the British open golf championship over the Royal Liverpool course today.

James Adams, Scottish international player, posted a 71, after a magnificent 34, four under par, on the last nine of the back-breaking course.

Several players turned in 72's over the 7,078-yard layout. Among them were W. H. Davies, former Ryder Cup player; R. A. Whitcombe, also a 1935 Ryder Cup player; and Jack McLean, the Scottish amateur.

Cotton-HAS. 73

Henry Cotton, the favorite, who led in the thirty-six-hole qualifying stage, carded a 73. Also with 73's were Gene Sarazen, strongest contender from the United States; Marcel Delmonte, French native professional champion; Alf Padgham, Francis Franc and Charles Whitcombe.

Defending champion, Alf Perry, needed a 76 today.

Walter Smithers, the Sunningdale caddy who shot himself into the limelight yesterday in the second stage qualifying round with a sparkling 70, carded a useful 37-37-73 over the long, tough course.

Ernie Ball, one of the United States invaders, was out in 38 and back in 36 for a 74.

Davies had a great chance to go into the lead when he turned in 36 and started back with three birdies as an eagle but he tottered on the last few holes and finished with a 72.

Percy Allis, one of the favorites, fired a level par 74. He went out in 38, two over par, and came back in 36, two under.

Willie Goggin, San Francisco, reached the turn in 39 and raced home in 35, scoring two birdies and an eagle on the last nine holes.

Syd Easterbrook, British international, shot a 79 after a disastrous home nine in which he took forty-two strokes. Scores of other leaders follow: Audrey Bomber, 38-36-74; Sid Fairweather, 37-39-75; E. E. Whitcombe, 40-39-79; John Woolam, English amateur champion, 36-39-75; Henry Busson, 38-40-78; Arthur Lacey, 38-38-76; Tom Green, 37-37-74; Leonard Crawley, Cambridge cricket and golf star, 41-38-79; W. GRADS SCORE EASY VICTORY

Ottawa, June 24.—Edmonton Grads, world women's basketball champions, awaited their final exhibition engagement in Montreal tonight, before they sail tomorrow for Europe to stage an exhibition series.

Grads left here yesterday evening following their game with an all-star aggregation when they swamped 99 to 11 to keep their unbroken string of exhibition victories intact. Led by their best player, guard Babe Bellamy, who with twenty-four points was top scorer of the match, the Edmonton girls had matters pretty well their way. Their tricky plans and dazzling speed had the local all-star Quintette bewildered. Throughout the game they seemed to score at will and had the large crowd cheering for them.

Noel MacDonald was second high scorer, with twenty-three points, while Beverly Dick and Eileen West, who shared "scoring" honors for the local girls with four points apiece.

"Muzz" Patrick Feels Alright

Montreal, June 25.—Murray Patrick, Canadian amateur, heavy-weight boxing champion, was "feeling all right" today, hospital authorities announced.

But they added: "No one feels very happy the first day after an operation."

Young Patrick, son of Lester Patrick, coach of the New York Rangers hockey team, underwent a nasal operation yesterday. "He will be in hospital for several days. The operation deprived Canada of one of her best Olympic boxing men."

Francisco Morazan, noted bandmaster, had a battery of heavy cannon outside the concert hall which was fired by means of an electrical connection for the first beat of each measure. A chorus of 20,000 singers accompanied the music. In a rendition of Verdi's "Ave Maria" 100 Boston firemen beat on fifty anvils to supplement the music.

One time president of two different governments, Francisco Morazan was one of the greatest military and political leaders Central America has ever known.

DiMaggio Equals Major League Mark

Rookie Sensation of New York Yanks Smashes Two Home Runs in Single Inning as Chicago Sox Beaten 18 to 11; Giants Split Pair With Pittsburgh

For a youngster just breaking into the big time, Joe DiMaggio has a surprising way of grabbing off the baseball headlines from the boys who have been around.

Not only is he crowding lots of other stars out of the limelight, but to him and slugger Lou Gehrig must go a large share of the credit for the growing conviction that the New York Yankees "murderer" row can come pretty close to using water boys for hurriers and still coast into a pennant.

Just when DiMaggio's bat had quieted down to a level with other able, but less sensational sluggers, up he pops again within record-equaling stunt that has been done by less than ten others in the history of the game—hit two home runs in one inning.

In the fifth inning of yesterday's game with the Chicago White Sox, Joe let go his round trip clouts, one with two mates on base, the other with one, provided five runs in the ten-run Yankee rally in that inning, sewing up the ball game for an 18 to 11 victory.

TIGERS BEAT SOX

This along with the Boston Red Sox's 7 to 6 defeat at the hands of Tommy Bridges and the Detroit Tigers, boosted the New York Yankees American League pace-setting edge to five and a half games.

Despite their victory over the Red Sox, the Tigers slipped from fourth to fifth place, for the Cleveland Indians defeated the Philadelphia Athletics in both ends of a twin bill, 5 to 3 and 14 to 2, to pull up to a third place deadlock with the Washington Senators, who found the St. Louis Browns easy behind Buck Newsom's Elected as the first President of the Central American Confederation, in 1830, he was forced to seek refuge in Peru when the Confederation was dissolved. Going to Costa Rica in 1842 he established a federation of states after a brilliant military coup and became president.

A revolution followed shortly after his inauguration and in 1842 he was captured by anti-federals. Facing a firing squad, he coolly gave the command to fire. When the volley failed to kill him, he once more gave the order that was to end his life.

Black-Campbell Both Eliminated

Vancouver and Seattle Aces Defeated in P.N.W. Golf As Allan Mills and Veteran Forrest Watson Pull Upsets; Alan Taylor Gains Second Round

Vancouver, June 25.—Sixteen shotmakers, dominated by Seattle and Vancouver entrants, strike-off-over-Point Grey's tricky course today in the first of two eighteen-hole rounds which will bring the Pacific Northwest Golf Association's thirty-eighth tournament to the semi-finals.

A British Columbian and a Washington State star, Stan Leonard of Vancouver and Harry Givan of Seattle, still hold the spotlight for the final but after yesterday's upsets when the medalist and the defending champion were toppled, the gallery experts were chary in choosing the successor to Seattle's Scotty Campbell.

Campbell bowed out of the championship picture yesterday to a veteran fellow townsman and former titleholder, Forrest Watson, 1 up, while Black, qualifying round sharpshooter, failed to match the smart stroking of Allan Mills, youthful Portlander and a comparative unknown until he shot himself into the final of the Oregon State tourney earlier in the year. Black was beaten 1 up.

Along with Leonard and Givan, yesterday's upsetters were looked on to reach the fours bracket.

Mills and Black clicked off the first two holes in par, then Black went one over on the third to go 1 down, and dropped the fourth to a birdie. He took the sixth, but lost the next hole to a five, when both found traps off the tee and rounded the turn 2 down.

The Vancouver shotmaker pulled up to even terms by the thirteenth, but slipped on the fifteenth and sixteenth. Mills found trouble on the short seventeenth to cut his lead, but halved the eighteenth to win the match. Mills' medal score was 73, a stroke better than Black.

Watson and Campbell matched stroke for stroke over five of the outgoing nine holes. "Scotty" lost the third and eighth to birdies, but took the sixth and ninth the same way to make the turn all squares. Each had 35's, one under par.

Watson dropped the tenth to Campbell's birdie three, halved the next two in even figures, then won the thirteenth and fourteenth with fours to take a hole advantage.

which he held to the final putt on the eighteenth.

Campbell missed an opportunity to send the match into extra holes when he three-putted the final green.

LEONARD WINS

Stan Leonard, generally looked on as the British Columbian threat for the title with the elimination of Black, marched into the next round with a 2 and 1 victory over his fellow-townsmen, Jack Morryson, of Vancouver. Leonard went into an early lead on the outgoing nine which he turned with a three-hole advantage and was never threatened.

Alan Taylor, young Victoria star, and the only Vancouver Island entry, downed P. I. Cameron of Nelson, 1 up.

Complete championship results:

Allan Mills, Portland, beat Ken Black, Vancouver, 1 up.

Bill Burns, Portland, beat Cliff Moore, Texas, 4 and 3.

S. Elsworth, Seattle, beat Dick Haskell, Seattle, 2 and 1.

E. Walls, Vancouver, beat J. A. MacKay, Beverly Hills, 1 up.

Stan Leonard, Vancouver, beat Jack Morryson, Vancouver, beat J. Ross Johnson, Vancouver, beat J. S. Bricker, Vancouver, 5 and 4.

Harry Givan, Seattle, beat Gill Sharon, Vancouver, 5 and 2.

George Thomas, Vancouver, beat Jack Duker, Vancouver, 2 and 1.

Forrest Watson, Seattle, beat "Scotty" Campbell, Seattle, 1 up.

Bud Campbell, Seattle, beat A. O. Allen, Upland, Cal., 5 and 2.

R. Whaley, Seattle, beat L. Luger, Seattle, 8 and 7.

Earl Bowman, Yakima, beat Cliff Willey, Vancouver, 3 and 2.

Dan Black, Nelson, beat Frank Leuty, Vancouver, 1 up.

Russ Case, Vancouver, beat R. Dickinson, Vancouver, 3 and 1.

Jim Robertson, Vancouver, beat Lee Stiel, Seattle, 2 and 1.

Alan Taylor, Victoria, beat P. I. Cameron, Nelson, 1 up.

Vancouver, June 25.—The championship field, narrowed now to eight feminine shotmakers, moved hopefully over the Point Grey Golf and Country Club layout today as play advanced into the quarter-finals for the women's Pacific Northwest amateur championship.

Only two Vancouver women remained in the field to meet the challenge of invading shotmakers from across the border. Local hopes tottered after a look at the draw with the realization the Vancouver drivers would have to create an upset or go down to defeat.

Mrs. W. M. Silcock, the Quilchena ace, was matched with Miss Marion McDougall, the twenty-two-year-old Portland girl who is a not favorite to take the crown home with her this year.

Fred Perry Brilliant As Seeded Stars Win At Wimbledon

British Champ Makes Van Ryn Stand and Look

United States Veteran Watches Shots Go By Him; Allison, Grant Advance

VON CRAMM WINS IN THREE SETS

Wimbledon, Eng., June 25.—Fred Perry, defending the all-England singles tennis title he won last year and in 1934, made short work of John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, in the third round today. The British star defeated his opponent, a noted doubles player, 6-3, 6-2, 6-0, to advance to the final sixteen of the event.

Joining him in the fourth round were Wilmer Allison, United States champion, and Adrian Quist of the Australian Davis Cup team. Quist showed amazing form in turning back Jiro Itoh of Japan by the one-sided score of 6-0, 6-0, 6-3.

A crowd of 17,000 watched with keen interest the masterful stroking of Perry, mainstay of the British Davis Cup team for several years, as he fired shots that Van Ryn could not approach.

BADLY BEATEN
The American was so badly beaten he almost appeared not to be trying. He repeatedly stood still to watch Perry's slithering, unopposed corners. Van Ryn ran up a 3-1 lead in the first set before Perry stormed the net and took five straight games. Perry was in such brilliant form the American won but two points in the last three games with Van Ryn vainly lobbing for Perry to make kills with vicious slashes down the side lines. Van Ryn shook his head and laughed at his own helplessness.

Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon of France outlasted H. C. Fisher, Switzerland, and Ferenc Kukuljovic, Yugoslavia, in a second-round doubles match that went to twenty-eight games in the marathon third set, 6-2, 7-5, 15-13.

Bryl "Ray" Grant, Atlanta, Ga., defeated British eighth-ranking player, A. Avory, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

Helga, four times United States champion, swamped Jacqueline Goldschmidt, France's fifth-ranking player, 6-1, 6-0, and advanced to the fourth round.

Dorothy Round, Britain, winner of the title in 1934 and seeded first this year, crushed Miss R. Kraus, Austria, 6-1, 6-2.

Vivian McGrath, Australia, reached the fourth round at the expense of Lucio Del Castillo, Argentina, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3, 12-10.

H. W. "Bunny" Austin, British Davis Cup star, defeated Charles R. D. Tuckey, Great Britain, 6-2, 6-1, 6-3.

Frau Hilda Krahwinkel Sperling, Denmark, eliminated Carolyn Babcock, Los Angeles, 7-5, 6-1.

Baron Gottfried von Cramm, Germany, scored a third round, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2 victory over Christian Boususs, France.

Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, New York, and Mme. Sylvia Henrotin, France, defeated Mrs. J. Bowden and Mrs. Joan O'Meara, Great Britain, 8-6, 6-2.

The smooth-working English-Polish team of Susan Noel and Jadwiga Jedrzejowska defeated Anita Lizana, Chile, and Fraulein Marie Louise

Winnipeg Runner Makes Fast Time

Toronto, June 25.—Jack Liddle, Winnipeg, middle-distance star, is subject of much discussion among Olympic officials here these days. The former University of Manitoba star's excellent performance in the 800 metres in a meet conducted by the Monarch Athletic Club here Saturday in connection with the official marathon trial, has attracted attention.

Officials are highly impressed by Liddle's fast time of 1:57.9. The Winnipeg boy showed championship form to come from behind on the stretch to catch Albert Conway, Toronto, and win by inches. Should the westerner continue to turn in such performances, his chances of making a place on the Canadian Olympic track team are considered bright.

Suburban Squad Score 6 to 5 Triumph Over Bruins; Tigers and Saanichton Win

A sixth-inning barrage of hits, which netted them six runs gave Sidney footballers a 6 to 5 victory over Painter's Bruins yesterday evening. The win put the suburbanites back in top place in the B section football race.

A 4 to 2 victory for Manager Jim O'Connor's Tigers was the result of a match with the Hollywood Club at Victoria West Park. The Bengals advanced a notch closer to the runner-up Bruins.

Saanichton checked in with an 11 to 3 win over the North Saanich Service Club, on the latter's home grounds, and reclaimed fourth place.

The Navy A squad won by default from Togo Cleaners when the latter were only able to field six men. In an exhibition match, that followed, the sailors were victorious, 18 to 17.

A closely contested fight was seen between Sidney and the Bruins. Six batters were sent the route for Sidney in the sixth inning, which gave them a lone-run win over Bruins. Turner operated on the mound for the fuel-men at the start but was replaced by the suburbanites in the sixth frame.

Bruins collected six hits from the offerings of Byers, Sidney slab artist, one more than the winners secured from the slants of Turner and Simpson.

TWO HOMERS ARE FEATURE

Kinnear and Cann Clout Home Runs as All-stars Beat Old-timers 15 to 4

Featured by home runs by Axel Kinnear and Lloyd Cann, the all-star ball team under the leadership of Tommy Restell took the Old-Timers, led by Fred McGinnis, for a 15 to 4 ride at the Athletic Park yesterday evening.

The youngsters played snappy ball behind the hurling of Cann and Lloyd Jones, one lone error being marked up against them.

Kinnear lifted the ball over the centre field fence in the first inning much to the delight of the good crowd of spectators, while Cann circled the bases in the fourth on a long hit down the right field line.

"Big difficulty of the Old-Timers was in their pitching staff. Jimmy Danglefield, who started, and Jack Mottishaw, who followed him, had great difficulty in locating the plate, walking no less than ten men between them."

Alex Dick was called to the rescue in the fourth and finished the game, which was called in the seventh.

The All-Stars also ran wild on the bases getting no less than eight plundered sacks.

BAD FOURTH INNING
For three innings it was a close ball game with the All-Stars holding a 2 to 1 lead but in the disastrous fourth the youngsters ran wild to score eight runs. They were held scoreless in the fifth and sixth but went on the rampage again in the seventh to get five more.

The All-Stars collected eleven hits and the Old-Timers eight. Forbes, who held down third base for the veterans, was the leading hitter for the evening with three out of four. The Old-Timers had six errors chalked up against them.

Jack Sharkey To Fight Brubaker

Boston, June 25.—Venerable Jack Sharkey, who hopes to regain the heavyweight crown, figures to give "Preacher Phil" Brubaker, sensational California youngster, a thorough testing tonight in a ten-round bout at Fenway Park.

Sharkey, despite his thirty-four years, is certain a decisive victory over Brubaker, whose hands are considered much too small and fragile for a heavyweight, will return him to the foreground of the heavyweight picture.

The other local woman, Miss M. Moss, Burnaby, also had a tough assignment in Miss Dorothy Sellers, Portland, who with her sister, Florence, is a noted long driver.

Florence Sellers, who advanced yesterday after an extra hole battle with Mrs. J. Renwick, West. Point Grey, met Miss Barbara Winn, the young sharpshooting Seattle girl, who equalled the course record of 79 in a match on Tuesday.

The other match was looked to to provide a stiff fight. Miss Nancy Hurst, long-driving Portland miler, who Tuesday eliminated the champion, Miss Barbara Thompson, Palo Alto, Calif., met Mrs. G. Riegel, P.N.W. titleholder in 1926, who has been attracting more than usual attention lately.

The mother-daughter combination of Mrs. E. Todd and Miss Marjorie Todd, was split up yesterday. Mrs. Todd being eliminated by Mrs. P. J. McCormick, Shagnessy, in a third flight match.

Miss Marjorie, however, came through with a 3 and 2 victory over Mrs. W. R. Williams, Portland, and met Mrs. A. Betts, Spokane, in a second-flight match.

The production of Insulin has been associated with terrible cruelty to dogs and other animals. That anaesthetics are a delusion is proved by the reports of medical men and the vivisectionists themselves. The death rate from diabetes has continually increased since this palliative was introduced. Dr. Dreschfield of Guy's Hospital states that by diet alone the death rate has been reduced from 75% to 7%.

PARENTS NOT DOING DUTY

Falling Down in Telling Children of Sex, Says Dr. A. D. McCannel

"Parents are falling down in telling their children the fundamental facts of life," declared Dr. Archie D. McCannel, M.D., N.D., in addressing the Victoria Rotary Club on "Rotary Opportunities with Boys" at a luncheon meeting in the Crystal Garden, today.

"We must think differently and readjust ourselves," to changing conditions, Dr. McCannel said in pointing out that maturity had always been unkind to youth. In the old days emphasis was laid on shielding youth from contamination and by that means keeping him "innocent." This was impossible now.

"The safe and sane way to guard youth against the pitfalls of manhood is to build up his resistance, to use a medical term," the doctor said. In a survey made by a university, out of 900 college students only fifty-seven had got their information on sex from a wholesome and clean source, Dr. McCannel said.

In boys' work the speaker saw the greatest expression of the Rotarians desire to serve. There they had the opportunity to do things to others that they wish had been done to them when they were young.

The personal contact was the great thing, the doctor said, and a boy at the age of ten and fourteen was lonely and hungry for companionship and advice. An encouraging word or two would make him feel that he was noticed and was not just a tiny cog.

Dr. George Hall introduced Dr. McCannel as an old friend and classmate. Frank Doherty was in the chair.

A report of girl guide activities was sent by Miss Harriet O'Brien, Victoria, national convener, and read by Mrs. J. A. McCabe, Ottawa, honorary secretary.

TELLS OF RED TREK IN CHINA

Dr. Stewart Allen Sees Choice Between Christianity and Communism

"China is choosing between Christianity and Communism," said Dr. Stewart Allen, native of the Okanagan and young medical missionary who has come all the way from Szechuan, China, to attend the annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association here.

"The more educated among the Chinese are weighing the two in the balance," he said, when interviewed today.

"Though Dr. Allen comes from that part of China where the Communists are marching, he has never been taken by them. Many of his friends have, however."

The terrible poverty and the condition of the coolies and peasant were such as to welcome Communism, the doctor said, though he felt the Reds would not make much headway if they persisted in their present tactics.

Dr. Allen described the tremendous forced march of the Communists two years ago in China which ended in Szechuan.

"The way they got through was a marvel," he said. "Suddenly, as though out of the blue, they appeared forty miles outside the capital."

The Reds started their trek from the province of Kiangsi, which is now in the trouble zone between the North and South.

"The trouble with the Communists is that they get pushed from one province to another," Dr. Allen said, "and these fellows were evidently tired of this nomadic type of life and wanted to settle down."

So the Communists who numbered over 80,000 started their 1,500-mile march to Szechuan where they hoped to join up with another Red army. To the surprise of all China, this horde which at times numbered hundreds of thousands with camp followers and coolies joining them en route, eluded the armies of Chiang Kai-shek, and conquered the mountain ranges to the northern province.

Dr. Allen felt the Chinese Communists were receiving some support from Soviet Russia, though most of their arms came from the nationalist armies due to soldiers deserting and from neighboring territory by "agreement." There was another Communist army in Hupeh under a famous bandit chieftain, Ho Lung, whom the missionary described as "clever and dangerous."

The British Columbia doctor is superintendent in charge of a United Church hospital in Kiating, Szechuan, a city where there are about 1,500 white people, all missionaries. He has two Chinese doctors and a number of Chinese nurses on his staff.

Dr. Allen left China about two months ago, after seven years there.

JUDGMENTS OF APPEAL COURT

Will Be Handed Down at Sitting Here Tomorrow

Judgment in two criminal appeals, those of the George brothers, Indians, convicted of the murder of Provincial Police Constable Francis Hartley Gibson at Canmore Reserve on May 23, 1934, and of Earl Dunbar, thirty-two, and Charles Russell, twenty-four, sentenced to hang following a hold-up in which a Vancouver bank teller was killed on January 15 of this year, will be delivered by the B.C. Appeal Court here tomorrow.

Judgment will also be given on three civil appeals in the cases of the Drummond Estate, Smith vs. Kennedy and Pelle vs. Bursae.

Judgment tomorrow will add another chapter to the trial of the George Brothers, whose case has attracted wide publicity through the actions of Stuart Henderson in his fight against the capital decree. The three Indians were condemned to hang on December 28 last year but were granted reprieves. The case arose over a fight on the Canmore Indian Reserve in which the constable was killed.

A similar charge against a fourth Indian brother was dismissed. Dunbar and Russell were sentenced by Mr. Justice Morrison at the Vancouver assizes to be hanged at Okalla following the hold-up of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in that city on January 15, 1936. William Hobbs, a teller, was killed during the hold-up.

The two men were later granted a reprieve pending the appeal. The appeal in the Drummond estate case centred around the settlement of the decree with relation to which of the parties involved was responsible for the payment of the death duties from the Helen Frances Drummond estate.

In the second civil action, Stanley Thomas appealed against a judgment imposing payment of costs upon him for an automobile accident in Vancouver. William Smith was plaintiff and Thomas Kennedy and Stanley Thomas defendants.

The trial judge held Thomas was entirely responsible for the accident and gave a ruling awarding damages and costs against him. His appeal sought release from costs covering Kennedy, the other defendant.

The third civil case covers an appeal from judgment against Angus Bursae, arising out of another car accident in Vancouver. Salvatore Pelle, plaintiff, was injured severely by the car driven by Bursae, an employee of Zack's Cleaners and Dyers Ltd., third party in the case.

NEW TRACTORS WILL BE USED

Most Modern Equipment to Construct New Railway on West Coast

Two modern tractors, with bulldozers, for use in grading operations on the new railway which will be laid twenty miles along the banks of the San Juan River, went down the west coast of the Island yesterday by barge.

These tractors are now the most modern method for moving dirt and for grubbing. They have revolutionized logging in Washington, Oregon and California and in these states it is now possible to move dirt for 3 cents a yard. As yet there are only a few on Vancouver Island. They have Diesel power.

The new west coast logging railway will be built from San Juan Harbor twenty miles into the timber limits of the Malahat Logging Company. Preparations are now being made to start construction and with the new tractors now on the scene the first work will be started shortly.

Adjournment until this afternoon for the hearing of medical evidence was ordered by Mr. Justice Murphy in the Supreme Court case of Fowler vs. Royal Trust Company Ltd. Today the case involves the establishment of proof for a lost will allegedly held by the Royal Trust Company for the disposal of the estate of the late Bertha P. Fowler.

Canada Imports Quintuplet Dolls

But "Shirley Temples" Are Made in Canada, According to S. F. Samuels, Who Reports Increased Export Business.

Shirley Temple dolls are made in Canada, but Dionne quintuplet dolls are imported into the Dominion. This unusual freak of toy industry is pointed out by S. F. Samuels, Toronto, who is in Victoria at present.

Mr. Samuels is just back from the British Industries Fair, and reports that Canadian manufacturers obtained a fair share of the doll business which had previously gone to makers in other countries.

"The buy-British sentiment is very noticeable," he said, "and there is a willingness to purchase Canadian goods, which verges on enthusiasm. It is marked not only throughout the general public but in the trade also. British business men will give the Canadian exporter wholehearted co-operation in merchandising abroad."

Mr. Samuels is just back from the British Industries Fair, and reports that Canadian manufacturers obtained a fair share of the doll business which had previously gone to makers in other countries.

FATIGUE CAUSE IS DISCUSSED

Diet, Rest and General Health of Children Cure Trouble, Says Doctor

The causes of fatigue in children were the subject of one of the most interesting papers heard at yesterday afternoon's sectional meetings of the Canadian Medical Association convention at the Empress Hotel. The speaker was Dr. George A. Lamont, Vancouver.

Dr. Lamont stressed the fact that fatigue and tiredness were not the same thing. Tiredness, he said, might be a symptom of fatigue, but it was not necessarily present.

Infection of the upper respiratory tract was responsible for a great deal of fatigue in children. The digestive system was the next most common source, and improper dieting or fatty dieting might be responsible.

Poor posture and obesity were other factors liable to cause fatigue.

"Lack of rest is the chief cause of the trouble in children. The digestive system was the next most common source, and improper dieting or fatty dieting might be responsible.

Children, he said, could become fatigued not only from lack of food, but from improper spacing of meals and not having food at the time when they needed it.

"The adolescent girl who prides herself on the 'no breakfast' slogan suffers from this factor. The athletic boy endeavoring to keep his weight down saps his energy," the doctor said.

"For the average healthy active youngster whose meal-time appetite is good, food at other times is not to be condemned," said Dr. Lamont.

SEES SUCCESS FOR HEALTH INSURANCE

There is no reason why the Health Insurance scheme soon to be instituted in British Columbia should not prove successful, Dr. W. K. Colbeck, president of the Ontario Medical Association, said yesterday.

Dr. Colbeck is attending the annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association.

"The Anglo-Saxon has an almost uncanny faculty of settling his differences and problems by co-operative effort," said Dr. Colbeck.

"I now have no fear but that the problem of Health Insurance in British Columbia will be amicably and satisfactorily solved to the satisfaction of the public, the Health Insurance Commission and the medical profession."

"I say this, because after sitting in both with the members of the Health Insurance Commission and with representatives of organized medicine, I believe adjustments can be made that will satisfy all concerned within a comparatively short time."

"Co-operation is the key to the whole situation."

"LEGONG" NOW AT THE ATLAS

Film of Balinese Life With "The Triumph of Sherlock Holmes" Opens Today

"Legong," the all-Technicolor film of the South Sea Islands, had its story inception in the song of a cabin boy on the boat which took the Hollywood film people to Bali, where the picture was made under an all-native cast. It is now being shown at the Atlas Theatre.

Gaston Glass, who was associated with the Marquis Henri de la Palaise in the production of the movie, heard his Malay cabin boy singing a certain "song" day after day while the boat headed for the South Sea. Soon, Glass himself was singing the song, not knowing what the words meant. While talking with the ship's captain one day Glass inquired about the meaning of the song.

"It's a Balinese love ballad," said the captain. "The words you sing mean: 'If love comes through the eye--and goes to the heart--beware!'"

Glass immediately recognized an idea for a story plot in the words. So, he took the captain's translation, and wrote a film scenario around the theme of the song.

Also being shown as the second feature on the comic programme is "The Triumph of Sherlock Holmes" starring Lynn Harding.

Montgomery, Loy Here Tomorrow

A thrice-welcomed team returns to the Dominion Theatre when "Petticoat Fever," new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production co-starring Robert Montgomery and Myrna Loy opens for a three-day run tomorrow.

These two stars have not been seen together since the memorable "When Ladies Meet."

Adapted from the successful stage play of the same name, "Petticoat Fever" concerns a young wireless operator in an icebound Labrador station. He is so lonely that, when a beautiful young girl-flier and her male escort run out of gas and make a forced landing nearby, he holds them prisoner rather than face another Arctic night alone.

Also being shown, as the second feature, is "Florida Special," starring Sally Eilers and Jack Oakie.

"Spook" Show Here Tonight

Victoria theatre-goers will be treated with one of the most unusual stage shows now on tour when Jack's Midnight Spook Show will be presented for one performance only at the Capitol Theatre tonight after the regular show.

According to advance information received here, this weird and mystifying show has been meeting with outstanding success in the larger cities of the Pacific Coast, and patrons of the local theatre will be privileged to see the entire show intact just as it has been presented in all its eerie details elsewhere at greatly advance admission prices.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Hollywood's perfect dancing girl for 1936 is beautiful, tall, slender and educated—at least in her feet. She is dark of hair and complexion, vivacious and versatile, declares LeRoy Prinz, one of Hollywood's noted dance directors, after interviewing more than 800 beauties for special numbers in the Universal production of "Show Boat" at the Capitol Theatre today. From those interviewed, Prinz chose Ann Meril of Fort Wayne, Ind., as the girl possessing ideal attributes for a screen dancer.

FUNDS NEEDED FOR ATHLETES

Appeal Is Made to the Public to Help Send Local Athletes to Montreal

If one happens to walk down Yates Street, between Broad Street and Government Street, and look in the window of the old Poodle Dog Cafe, a display of sports photographs depicting local track and field stars, boxers, wrestlers, swimmers and specialists in nearly every line of local sport will be seen.

The pictures are there to give the public an idea of just what part local boys and girls take in sports and to impress on them the fact that these youngsters, through their ability in their various lines of sport activity, raise a chance to go to the Canadian Olympic trials at Montreal early in July.

A committee consisting of Mayor David Leeming, honorary chairman; Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter, chairman, and Norval Peterson, secretary-treasurer, has been formed to make an appeal to the citizens of Victoria for funds to send the city's athletes to the Olympic trials.

Only the likely ones will be sent and the committee will welcome donations of any kind. Those wishing to do so are asked to get in touch with Norval Peterson, at E-5712, or hand in the same at 615 Yates Street.

Must File Tennis Entries Tonight

Entries for the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club championships will close this evening at the club headquarters at 7 o'clock, Secretary F. A. Jackson announced yesterday. All players wishing to enter the various divisions are urged to file their names with the secretary today.

Freddie Bartholomew Plays With Victor McLaglen in "Professional Soldier"

Starring Victor McLaglen with Freddie Bartholomew, Twentieth Century's "Professional Soldier," is now at the Plaza Theatre with a gay, brave story of romance and adventure in foreign lands.

McLaglen plays the part of an adventurer who first meets his little pal as the victim whom he has been hired to secret away. Freddie Bartholomew is the boy monarch of a little European country, and McLaglen is in the pay of revolutionaries.

In a mountain hideaway, McLaglen soon discovers that the little king is a regular lad. A great friendship grows between them.

Also being shown as the second feature on this programme is Alice Brady in "Lady Tubbs."

In which the racing sequence is incidental. There is an array of stars which includes Norman Foster, Esther Ralston, Eric Linden, Funnell Pratt, Gilbert Emery, Syd Saylor, Emma Dunn, Irene Franklin, and Jason Robards.

John Wayne in "The Oregon Trail" is the second feature.

"Please buy ten big bunches of raw carrots for Evalyn Knapp," said a voice which came over the telephone to the purchasing department at Mascot Studio where "Ladies Crave Excitement" featuring that star and Norman Foster, which comes to the Columbia Theatre today was being made.

"I beg your pardon," said the purchasing agent, doubtfully.

"Oh! Yes! It's all right," came the answer. "We are filming the racing sequence and have fourteen race horses on the set. Evalyn is trying to be palmy with all of them, especially the one that plays the part of 'starting' in the picture."

"Ladies Crave Excitement" is actually a newswreel cameraman story.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I have been married for three months to a Mother's Boy. We started out fine. We bought nice new furniture and set up housekeeping for ourselves and for the first week we were happy. Then he decided he wanted his mother and couldn't live without her. I thought that he would get over his homesickness, but no matter how hard I try to make things pleasant for him, he still wants to go back to Mother. And now he says he doesn't love me any more. He only loves Mother. I told him that if this was the case we had better break up housekeeping and he could go to his home and I'd go to mine, but he complains that this will make a scandal, and that the only way out is for him to commit suicide. Please tell me, Miss Dix, what I should do. I love him and am willing to sacrifice my happiness for his.

MRS. R. N.

Answer—Your husband is a pathological case and you should take him at once to some good psychiatrist and let science clarify his muddled emotions. Perhaps a psychiatrist can make him see that the love of mother and wife, do not conflict, but each has its place in a well-ordered normal life.

In the meantime go to your mother-in-law and have a frank talk with her. She is the key to the whole situation. Make her realize that her son's excessive affection for her is not only wrecking his happiness but is driving him insane, and ask her to cut her apron string and set him free.

If she has courage enough to do this and to make her son realize that his life no longer centres about her but about his wife, and that his greatest love should be given to his wife—instead of to her, and especially if she has wisdom to shut up her house and go away for a while so that there will be no mother's home to go to and no mother to run to with a tale of everything that has happened to him, all will be well.

He will learn to do without Mother and to depend upon you for the babying that Mother gave him. He will come to think of the house he has set up as his home and begin to take an interest in it. In a word, he will get weaned. And he will find that all of his love for you has come back.

The reason that he thinks now that he has ceased to love you is because his love for his mother is fighting against his love for you, and somehow whichever one is away from him has the strongest claim upon him. If he should go back to his mother, he would die for love of you.

But what a crime a woman commits when she fosters a mother complex in her son! Yet many women do it. They are so anxious to be all in all to their sons that they monopolize them, they spoil them, they enslave them, they never let them grow up, they keep them dependent on them, they never let them walk alone or stand on their own feet. And, in reality, Mamma's petted, white-haired darling never grows to man's estate. He remains a perpetual little boy.

Fortunately, Mother's darling generally refrains from marrying because he never finds anybody just like Mother to marry, but, when he does marry, he is unhappy and discontented and makes his wife miserable.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—What attitude is it possible to take toward old people whose ideas seem ugly and wrong to us and yet who are tied to us by bonds of blood or marriage? The Bible says: "Honor thy father and mother," yet I have found that the hardest of all the commandments to obey. Our minds expand by studying and reading and contact with life, while the minds of the old are static. How can one honor an outmoded, narrow and intolerant point of view? How can one honor a censorious attitude and mind that refuses new ideas? I have obeyed the command to honor my parents, and the unuttered retort, the meek silence and polite attention for a long, drawn-out dull period have been a veritable torture. It seemed the only course at the time, yet I wonder now whether it was wise.

MRS. H. C. L.

Answer—Every kindly act is more than wise. It is a benediction that blesses those that give and those that receive, and I am sure that the knowledge that you showed your old parents tenderness instead of irritability; that you bit back the sharp spear, and that you made their last days happy will be among the things that you will like best to remember when you audit your account with life.

It does not seem to me that we are justified in taking any attitude toward the old except that of infinite patience and infinite kindness. And this is a hard saying because old age is not always sweet and lovely and appreciative. It is not even often so. Most old people are selfish and full of cranky ways. They are opinionated and dominating, dull and tiresome and borsome. They are critical and hard to please and rarely satisfied.

Yet all of that does not alter our duty toward them to be kind and forbearing and to do all that we can to bring a little sunshine to the last dreary lap of the road. And I think this is what the Bible means when it speaks of honoring our parents. It is not yielding for their physical comforts; taking on our young shoulders the load that theirs are too feeble to bear; listening with apparent interest to oft-told tales, deferring when possible to their outmoded opinions.

And we may well remember that these old fathers and mothers made of their backs a ladder on which we climbed to the heights on which we stand. They toiled and scrimped and saved to give us the education they never had. But for them we might still have the closed mind that refuses new ideas; the narrow, intolerant point of view which we deride. They lifted us into a world above ourselves and opened doors through which they knew they could never enter. And so the least that we can do is to make a few sacrifices for those who have made so many for us.

And we may bear in mind when dealing with the old that in a few years we will be old ourselves and ask of others the tolerance that the old are asking of us.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have two ex-wives and both want me back. Both quit me when financial reverses hit me, but I have struck it rich again, hence their desire to return. My first wife had a mania for getting me into alimony trouble. The other a mania for expensive clothes and diamonds. But I worshipped Wife No. 2. It is all I can do to keep from telegraphing her to come, but if she rejoins me she will bankrupt me again. What is a fellow to do?

A POOLISH MAN.

Answer—Unless you are a glutton for punishment and have a preference for feminine gold-diggers, you had best pass up both of your ex's and try a third. She couldn't be more undesirable as a wife than her predecessors.

DOROTHY DIX.

UNCLE WIGGLY AND THE PONY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

It was supper time in the hollow stump bungalow and Uncle Wiggly and the animal children who lived with him were at the table eating a fine meal. Especially Baby Bunty, for she seemed very hungry, as she had been playing hard all day, and that is good for those who are young—it makes them healthy and, indeed, hungry, too.

"What are we having for dessert, Uncle Wiggly?" she asked, using her two words of baby talk. "I hope it's something nice."

"I'm sure it will be," Mr. Longears replied, twinkling his pink nose. "But have you eaten everything on your plate first?"

"Every amidge!" Baby Bunty answered. "Gosh!" and she held it up.

"Yes, you've certainly eaten every amidge all right," Uncle Wiggly laughed. "I suppose amidge means every speck?"

"Yes, it does!" Baby Bunty said. "At least it sounds as though it should. Now what's for dessert?"

"Carrots with sugar sauce!" Nurse Jane exclaimed, coming into the room. "How's that?"

"That's fine!"

LOST PONY

"Fine!" every one cried. And Nurse Jane started to serve them.

But just then they heard a noise out back. It was a noise something like: "Hm-hm-hm-nnnn!" rather high and shaky. "It's a goat!" Nurse Jane cried in surprise.

"No, I think it's a horse or a pony," Uncle Wiggly said. "Let us go out and see!"

So they all hopped up from the table and went out. And Uncle Wiggly was right—it was a pony and he looked home-some, and hungry, too!

"My gracious goodness me!" Uncle Wiggly exclaimed. "What are you doing here, Mr. Pony? Are you lost?"

"I am," replied the pony, sadly. "My master left the gate open, where I live, and I wandered out to see what I could see. And now I'm lost."

"But where do you live?" Baby Bunty asked.

"I don't know—that's why I'm lost! And I haven't had anything to eat all day. I'm so hungry!"

"Well, we'll soon fix that!" Mr. Long-ears cried. "Children, what do you say? How about that sugared carrot dessert?"

"We'll give it to the pony!" they all shouted. "Give the pony our carrot dessert!"

"That's what I thought you'd say," Uncle Wiggly laughed. "Do you like sugared carrots, Mr. Pony?"

GOES TO SLEEP

"Oh, don't I though!" the pony sighed, meaning he did. So Nurse Jane put a big dish and the pony ate it. He was so glad to get it and so grateful to the kind animal children that he could hardly speak. Then they fixed a place for him in the back yard and lay down to sleep. Uncle Wiggly said: "Tomorrow, in the daylight, maybe you'll find your way home. Sleep well, Mr. Pony."

Afterward, Baby Bunty asked: "If he can't find his way home, may we keep him and ride on him, Uncle Wiggly? He's such a nice pony."

"We'll see," the rabbit gentleman said. "Now, it's time for bed. Pleasant dreams, all of you!"

Most of the animal children, I can tell you, dreamed of the pony and of the fine rides they could have on his back. But when morning came the pony was gone. And on the ground, under a stone, was a note: "Wherever you find my pony, thank you. You are most kind. And here's a little reward." And what do you think? Pinned to the note was five real dollar bills!

"His master came and got him," Uncle Wiggly told the animal children. "The pony has gone home, but you can buy lots of splendid things with this money. That shows you it pays to be kind to others!"

And tomorrow night, if the alarm clock doesn't ring at the wrong time so that you think it's the telephone bell, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggly and the blue bay.

Piles Go Quick

With Dr. Leonhardt's Prescription

Many sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have found out that quick relief can be had with an internal medicine.
Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel is the cause of piles. The veins are congested and flabby, the bowel walls weak. That is why an internal medicine like HEM-ROID should be used. HEM-ROID stimulates the circulation, relieves the pressure of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and helps to heal and restore the sore, tender parts.
HEM-ROID is the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, who spent several years of his professional life in finding the cause of piles and the medicine that would remove them. His medicine succeeds because it tends to correct the cause.
No matter what kind of piles you have or how long you have had them, if you want to try HEM-ROID, you have our promise to give you back your money if you do not find quick and satisfying relief. After using just one bottle, MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores or any druggist can supply you.

Canadians Buy More Automobiles

Ottawa, June 25. — Canadians bought more new cars in May than a year ago, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

There were 19,093 motor cars sold for $1,273,500 in May this year, an increase of 15 per cent in number and 18 per cent in value over May, 1935. Of these, 15,854 were passenger cars which sold for $1,105,325, compared with 13,858 units sold for $1,349,025 a year ago.

British Columbia and Saskatchewan were outstanding among the provinces with increases in number of cars sold with 40 and 30 per cent respectively.

When Japanese beetles arrived in this country in 1915, they found no disease or natural enemies to stop their progress; but now several organisms have been discovered that spread disease among beetle larvae in the soil.

TWO TYPES OF REBIDS

Encouraging Boost Invites Partner to Bid Again; Discouraging Response Is a "Sign-off"

By WM. E. MCKENNEY
This is the third of a series of articles based upon less known, but fundamental, bidding situations discussed by Charles H. Goren, of Philadelphia, in his new book, "Winning Bridge Made Easy."

SIGN-OFFS
Rebids at bridge are divided into two classes — encouraging and discouraging.

Encouraging, or "constructive," bids invite partner to bid again; discouraging bids ask partner to pass. These discouraging rebids are known as sign-offs.

A sign-off usually implies that you have pictured the strength of your hand and that, so far as you are concerned, you are willing to have the bidding drop. It does not command partner to stop bidding, but warns him that he proceeds at his own risk.

All sign-off bids by the original bidder are mild and not emphatic. The reason is plain. Though the opener is signing off, he nevertheless still holds the values required for an opening bid.

In the case of the responding hand (the partner of the player who has opened the bidding), the sign-off is emphatic, because his bidding may have been made under pressure.

If your partner invites you to bid and you merely rebid the same suit, you are signing off. If, however, your partner suggests that you pass, and you bid again, even in the same suit, this is not necessarily a sign-off. It may be an attempt to move forward in the bidding, but the sit-

In London 5,000 English Farmers Parade, Opposing Church Collections

London, June 25.—Farmers seeking relief from church tithes laid new demands before the cabinet today.

Over a three-mile course yesterday, a procession of 5,000 farmers wound through London streets, tying up traffic and creating confusion during the rush hour.

The protesters carried banners directed against "Queen Anne's Bounty," the royalties which were diverted from the crown to the Church of England in 1704.

"We shear sheep; the church shears us," some banner said. "Churchmen are sportsmen. Pay for your religion," others read.

Some of the parades were dressed in Cromwellian uniforms, and many in rustic dress. Women in sun-bonnets and aprons marched beside the men.

After the procession, many went to the House of Commons where they sought to interview their representatives on methods to halt payment of the land tax, which takes $11,000,000 annually from English agriculturists.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

Resolutions of protest were passed after a session in Hyde Park, addressed by Sir Stafford Cripps, who spoke from a farm wagon.

The church tithes issue was renewed during demonstrations last year. Originally Queen Anne's Bounty amounted to approximately $85,000 a year, but has grown to what farmers declare are exorbitant proportions.

Originally, for the benefit of the crown, the farmers paid "the first fruits" and then one-tenth of each year's produce. The Queen passed the royalties to the church for the benefit of poor curates.

A royal commission has studied the protests and urged drastic revision of the system, which the church has approved in part.

Lloyd George Condemns British Government For Lifting Ban From Italy

Sawley, Derbyshire, Eng., June 25.—"Last night I saw the white feather emblem being waved across the sky by a skilled and practised hand," said Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George yesterday evening in a speech commenting on the government's decision to lead the move to lift sanctions had Tuesday's debate in the House of Commons.

"One among the many millions in this land who are humiliated by the spectacle," the former Prime Minister declared, referring in scathing terms to the government's "betrayal of Abyssinia."

"They had three foreign ministers undertaking the task," he said, "but one after another threw in his hand because he was afraid to tackle the job. We ought never to have taken the task in hand unless we meant to put it through."

"There is no sympathy anywhere on earth for this act of aggression. We are told that if you threaten sanctions against an aggressor, he may hit you in the eye. But it is really coming to this—that Britain won't do its duty for fear of a black eye."

"We seem to be impotent with the whole British Empire behind us. It is the voice of the people and the voices of the dead are calling on them to insist that Britain should lead the world again on the path of right."

ARTILLERY OUT

Mexico City, June 25 (Associated Press).—"Park your guns or stay out of the line," the most international, Towar, ordered congressional deputies today. The command will become effective when Congress convenes in September, he declared.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

A quarter century after the American Revolution, England entered a European conflict which led her to impress American seamen for her navy. James Madison, one of the framers of the new constitution, became president in 1809 and tried vainly to settle the issue with England peacefully. But impressment continued, and in 1812 Madison declared war—the first war of the United States since its independence. It lasted two years, and it established American rights on the seas.

Madison was one of Thomas Jefferson's disciples and a leader of the Jeffersonian party. He had been secretary of state under Jefferson for the entire two terms. Thanks to his knowledge of shorthand, the proceedings of the convention of 1787, which framed the Federal Constitution, have been saved for posterity.

In his second term, Madison approved the establishment of a national bank, after having vetoed the measure previously.

When his term ended in 1817, he retired. He died in 1836, at the age of eighty-five. His portrait appears on the $2 stamp, first issued in 1894.

No Forty-hour Week Voted

International Labor Conference at Geneva Rejects Proposal For Present.

Geneva, June 25.—The International Labor Conference, opened here June 4 under the presidency of C. V. Braman of Denmark, had adjourned today after adopting by a vote of 99 to 15 a convention embodying the principle of annual vacations of one week with pay for all industrial and commercial employees.

The convention now goes to the governments represented in the conference for ratification.

WEEKLY WORK HOURS

The convention of the forty-hour week, which had been the main pre-occupation of the conference, was rejected by the delegates.

The conference concluded its labors last night after adopting a resolution for a study of technological unemployment and its remedies. The workers' group, meanwhile, agreed on a formula allowing Soviet workers to be represented in future in the conference.

During discussion of the forty-hour week question, Gerald H. Brown, assistant deputy minister of labor for Canada, said the representatives of the Canadian government would have to abstain from voting on certain matters before the conference.

He said the Canadian government had decided to abstain from voting on the question of the then pending decision of the Dominion Supreme Court on eight-hour day statutes.

REDUCTION OF UNEMPLOYMENT

In discussing the question of a convention for a forty-hour week in the textile industry, Ernest Brown, Minister of Labor, giving the views of the British government, said the shortened work week had been advanced as a measure for reducing unemployment. However, he contended it was inevitable, especially in countries where workers were highly organized and where there were schemes of unemployment insurance and other arrangements for aiding the unemployed.

Mr. Brown described how the iron and steel industry in Great Britain had made adjustments to changed conditions by means of collective agreements, effectively operated.

Changes in hours and wages had been made simultaneously so that, although there had been a reduction of workers in proportion to production, the condition of the workers had not been made worse by reduction of the hours of work.

The discussion also showed a wide divergence of view between employers' delegates and representatives of the workers.

STANDARD OF LIVING

L. Ashurst, technical adviser to the British Empire employers' group, said a convention such as had been proposed would undermine collective bargaining, while the question of the standard of living would be interpreted by each government to suit its own purpose. He said employers disputed the assumption of the workers' delegates that a reduction of working hours would result in a diminution of unemployment and predicted it would lead to an intensive search for mechanical appliances to take the place of manual labor.

He also advanced the argument adoption of a forty-hour week would involve an increase in the cost of production, which must be added to the selling price, resulting in a decreased consumption of textile goods.

TEXTILE INDUSTRY

Arthur Shaw, for British workers, said the textile industry was, of all industries, the most international, and that it ought to be dealt with by a convention. The majority of persons employed in it, he said, were women and children. It had been
